SPARKS FLY AT ALL-PARTY MEET ON LANKA CRISIS

Govt rapped for drawing parallel with states

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

S Jaishankar

An all-party meeting called by the Centre on Tuesday to discuss the Sri Lanka crisis turned confrontational as the government tried to draw parallels between economic crisis in the island state and the poor fiscal situation in Opposition-ruled states. Led by Tamil Nadu, MPs from other states hit back at the Centre.

The meeting was addressed by External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar who highlighted the economic crisis as the key reason behind political turmoil, adding the culture of freebies had impacted Lanka's fiscal health.

During the presentation by Union economic affairs secretary Ajay Seth on Lanka's economic woes, several Opposition-ruled states, including Tamil Nadu, Telangana and Andhra Pradesh were called out for spending more than their earnings and their poor debt-to-GDP ratio.

"TN was the first to push back asking government to not use this forum for such a discussion. TN was supported by Telangana and Andhra," Keshava Rao (TRS) told this newspaper. He said the Opposition asked the Centre not to pick on states as India's own debt-to-GDP ratio is around 59% compared to less than 50% a couple of years ago.

Other parties like the Trinamool, AAP and Congress also attacked the Centre. P V Midhun Reddy (YSRC) said the Centre should not compare states with another country; if comparison has to be drawn, it should be between two countries. Congress MP from Tamil Nadu Manickam Tagore said, "The Centre showed many Opposition-ruled states in bad light after which leaders from all the major Opposition parties told the Centre to not attack states."

Jaishankar said it was natural to worry about the spillover of the crisis, but termed it "misinformed comparison" as some people said a similar situation could arise in India.

Massive irregularities in 43 sub-registrars' offices

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

SURPRISE visits by 10 teams of Karnataka Lokayukta sleuths for four days have unearthed shocking irregularities and mal-administration in 43 sub-registrars offices in Bengaluru. Most of the irregularities are common across all the places raided.

Touts collect commission ranging from Rs 10,000 to 20,000 for each property in the city, Rs 40,000 to 1 lakh in panchayat limits, which is more than the total amount of the stamp fee, registration and scanning charges.

It is difficult to differentiate between officials and touts since the middlemen act as officials to execute the job. Sub-registrars and staffers neither wear identity cards nor mark attendance. Names and vigilance awareness boards are not displayed, closed circuit TV (CCTV) cameras are not installed and the server (Kavery Property Registration Software) is down most of the time, causing inconvenience in registration of documents. CONTINUED ON: P4

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

Kandige said, "It just shows '0' amount".

Bescom General Manager (CR) Nagaraj S R said, "We will look into the matter and sort it out in one or two days."

Indians to tap Arctic to know Himalayan melt

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

PLANS are afoot to send the first Indian team of researchers to the Canadian High Arctic Research Station (CHARS) located in Canada's Cambridge Bay, Nunavut, to study the impact of climate change on glacial melt. The studies and findings are planned to be subsequently utilised to better understand the impact of climate change on glacial melting in the Himalayas.

The CHARS is in a place called Kitikmeot hamlet, whose location provides good access to all parts of the Canadian Arctic for studies of this nature.

Dr Krishnan K P, Scientist at National Centre for Polar and Ocean Research (NCPOR), Goa, who will be among the scientists on the planned expedition, told The New Indian Express that this will be the first time a team of Indian researchers will be going to CHARS. CONTINUED ON: P7

52k bitten by dogs since 2020 in BBMP limits

'More NGOs should join hands to address issue'

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

AS many as 52,262 people have become victims of dog bites in Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) limits since 2020, a Palike survey has revealed. The BBMP has now turned to the Animal Welfare Board of India (AWBI) urging it to involve more NGOs to carry out the tasks of animal birth control and making anti-rabies vaccines available at a bigger scale to address the issue. However, many activists and NGOs say they are not interested to work with the Palike due to alleged delay in payment and mismanagement.

Chandraiah I, Joint Director, BBMP said that for effective Animal Birth Control (ABC) campaign and Anti-Rabies Vaccination (ARV) programme, NGOs recognised by Animal Welfare Board Of India should work together with the Palike.

"To address the dog bite and stray dog menace, ABC and ARV campaigns are suggested and since we don't have many NGOs coming forward, we have written to the AWBI to recognise more NGOs so that the programme can be intensified," said Chandraiah.

However, activists blame the BBMP for harassing NGOs by not clearing payment on time and not providing infrastructure support. "The purpose of ABC or ARV campaigns is not up to the mark in BBMP. NGOs are disinterested as the Palike is least bothered about setting up ABC centres and following Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs). CUPA was carrying out ABC and ARV programmes in the South Zone, but they have pulled out recently. There are a few more like NGOs like AASARA and CARE who have declined to work with the BBMP," said Naveena Kamat, an animal rights activist.

Echoing similar sentiments, another activist says, "SOPs have to be compromised. In one kennel, too many dogs are kept post-surgery and released prematurely. Except Yelahanka, no ABC centres are running effectively."

Class 10 student in the dock for bomb threat mail

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IT was a Class 10 student of National Hill View Public School in Rajarajeshwari Nagar, who wanted the first-term examinations postponed, that sent the hoax bomb threat email to his school, the police have found. The school, run by KPCC president DK Shivakumar, was closed on Monday after the threat mail.

Police sources said they zeroed in on the boy through the IP address used to send the email. "During questioning, he admitted that he sent the email from his father's laptop. He revealed that he had not studied well for the exams that were scheduled to begin from Monday. He thought that the exams can be postponed by sending a threat mail," a police officer said.

The boy created a fake email ID in the name of Kannada actor Huccha Venkat and sent the mail to the official mail ID of his school. "The boy had gone to the school on Monday as usual and his parents were clueless about what he had done," the officer added.

Based on a complaint filed by school Principal Anitha Vinod Kumar, the police had registered an FIR against unidentified persons for criminal intimidation and criminal intimidation by anonymous communication.

"However, as the accused turned out to be a minor in conflict with the law, he was questioned and remanded to the State Boys' Home run by the Social Welfare Department. The proceedings will be held as per provisions of the Juvenile Justice Act," the official said.

Meanwhile, classes resumed at the school on Tuesday under tight security. While the school stepped up its private security, the police also provided additional cover.

The school authorities received the threat email on Sunday evening and noticed it in the morning the next day. The school evacuated over 1,800 children to its Unit 2 in Banashankari and Global Academy of Technology.

Glitches will be sorted out soon: Sunil Kumar

POWER Minister Sunil Kumar who is on a tour to Karkala, said it was a technical problem and would be sorted out within a day or two. But the consumers are not satisfied with the assurances. Some complained that when they initially contacted the power authorities about seven days ago, they were assured that the issue would be rectified soon. Their common complaint was that power authorities had agreed to set it right soon but it has still not happened. Some consumers are worried whether their power lines will be disconnected for non-payment of bills, forcing them to run around for a re-connection. Some hope the power ministry would extend the deadline for payment of bills.

Bescom sources said, earlier a major IT company was handling the online payment system but now it has been handed over to another company. "The software has been changed and these glitches are initial hiccups which will be sorted out soon," a source said.

Nimhans alumni seek rollback of position paper on health

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

NIMHANS alumni have sought withdrawal of the position paper on 'Health and Wellbeing' for the National Curriculum Framework and NEP 2020, calling it "outrageous, outdated, unscientific and frivolous".

Addressing the media, they said it was a matter of concern that the expert group on child health and nutrition did not have a paediatrician as a member. The paper has made several claims, like benefits of yoga for mental health of children, plant-based foods being more human-friendly, reduced malnutrition, eggs and meat being responsible for lifestyle disorders etc, without providing any conclusive evidence.

Sufficient evidence was provided, contradicting eggs and meat being the cause of lifestyle disorders. The study by Karnataka Rural Development and Panchayati Raj University had shown that children who had eggs in their mid-day meal had significant gain in weight and BMI. The paper had also made claims about equality of all children, no 'pankti bedha' and dharma in its bid to deny eggs. The State and Central governments have already decided to provide eggs in seven districts and approved it for other districts as well, for 46 days of the year. Therefore, the recommendation goes against the decision of the government.

They requested the Nimhans director to dissociate from the report and also sought the immediate resignation of Dr K John Vijay Sagar as chairperson of the expert group.

Sulikerepalya residents panic over 'leopard pugmarks'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

RESIDENTS in and around Sulikerepalya Block-8 of Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Layout were in a tizzy after news spread that pugmarks have been sighted. While locals stated that the pug marks were that of a leopard, Karnataka Forest Department officials said it could also be that of a dog or a large cat.

They, however, did not rule out the possibility of a leopard venturing into the locality as it is close to the Sulikere forest.

"A recce of the area will be done. Citizens need not panic, but if there are any issues they should immediately report it," an official said. Locals said they spotted a leopard in Bheemanakuppe two years ago and now one near Sulikerepalya.

"We hope the Forest Department will take appropriate action to capture the leopard and shift it to a safe forest patch," Surya S, a local, said.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

20th July: There's one planetary alignment today which represents brilliant and wild ideas, another which indicates amazing self-discipline. Put those two together and we've got a moment which is potentially wonderful for inventors. If you have any unusual, original and striking ideas then now could be the time to start putting them into practice.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Moon is presenting a friendly face in your chart, which means that you can only benefit from long-distance and creative contacts. Those of you who have arranged to travel today are the smartest Ariens around. And those of you developing artistic skills could be the happiest.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Vague feelings may be stirred up as passionate feelings become more intense. From somewhere deep inside, you are about to discover a sense of renewed commitment. If you feel stuck in a rut at work, then start by going back to first principles and see where that gets you.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Your efforts at work should be rewarded financially at last. If you don't achieve some sort of monetary satisfaction, then there's clearly something in your solar horoscope which is not being adequately expressed. Perhaps you have not taken sufficient responsibility for your own decisions.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
In spite of impressions to the contrary, partners are on your side. Still, you may experience a sudden flare-up in an intimate relationship, although you might feel better for it in the long run. Let the scales fall from your eyes at work and figure out what you need to do next.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You often experience emotional conflict and insecurities which are derived from the position of the sensitive sign Cancer in your solar chart. The best estimate at the moment is that any such feelings are misplaced, and you may well be surprised at the support that's on the way.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
If you have a problem, it's a tendency to be too hard on yourself. As of now, you should no longer feel quite so threatened or thwarted as so often in the past. The fact is that your social stars are extremely bright and there's a whole new world waiting to greet you.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The Moon puts the focus on travel, communication and discussion. It's a day to get out and about, to talk over your feelings and generally get on with all lively activities. Sedentary Librans may be frustrated, though, so don't sit around while the world passes you by.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Not for the first time the single most specific aspect in your solar chart points to long-distance love. It therefore goes without saying that travelling Scorpios are better placed to have pleasure than those at home. But there's another possibility as well, which is that a stranger comes to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your job may be to supply support and assistance to other people, thus putting your own interests in second place. Are you capable of such selfless actions? In the final analysis, I doubt if you'll have any choice. You'll see the situation much more clearly in a couple of days.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You might be about to double-book yourself, so don't be too swept away by social invitations or personal initiatives. A business or financial matter of dubious origin is now hovering on the horizon, and you'd be advised to clear up outstanding issues sooner rather than later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
If you wish, you may issue ultimatums to colleagues, but only if you are certain that all will be settled within a few days. There's one snag, and it's that partners have the edge, so if controversial actions are coming up, you might be wise to think again.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Midweek arrives and still the stars support the Piscean mentality. It is as if the whole world is swinging behind you and your hard-working and creative talents. For a lot of people, though, there may be extra confusion and uncertainty, so don't be put out if partners miss the point.

Party president obvious choice for coveted post, says KPCC chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

AMID the wrangling between KPCC president DK Shivakumar and Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah, the former, for the first time, expressed his desire to become chief minister if Congress attains the magic figure in the 2023 Assembly polls. "I am not a sanyasi. I wear khadi, not kavi (saffron robes)," Shivakumar told the media here on Tuesday.

At a recent event organised by the Vokkaliga community, he referred to his political guru and former chief minister SM Krishna, who was backed by the community, and said the time has come for another chief minister from the community.

He said party presidents are the obvious choice for the coveted post, but added in the same breath that it is the party high command that decides the chief ministerial candidate.

"The chief minister will be decided only after Congress comes to power, but I have asked my community to rally behind me. Becoming chief minister is secondary," he said, and added he wants the support of all communities as he believes in secularism.

"I want my party to form a government. I am not worried about the chief minister's post," he said.

'State govt most corrupt'

Stating that he wants Karnataka to be the land of Kuvempu, Kanakadasa, Basavanna and Shishunala Sharif, he slammed the BJP-ruled state government for disturbing peace by dividing the society on the basis of caste and religion.

> BJP has even auctioned the post of chief minister. There has been no probe even after contractors accused ministers of demanding 40% commission and submitted a complaint to the PM
> DK Shivakumar

"BJP has even auctioned the post of chief minister. There has been no probe even after contractors accused ministers of demanding 40 per cent commission and submitted a complaint to the Prime Minister. The state government is the most corrupt in the country," he said.

Asserting that the Siddaramaiah government fulfilled 164 out of 169 promises, he said BJP failed to fulfil 40 per cent of its promises and alleged they are busy collecting 40 per cent commission.

"After we lost, people have realised the good administration of the Congress government and have decided to vote for us. If we come to power, we will probe incidents of corruption by the BJP government, and take such cases to their logical end," he said.

On Siddaramotsava, which is the 75th birthday celebration of Siddaramaiah, he said it is a milestone to recall the leader's service to the people.

On August 15, over one lakh Congress workers will hold a rally from Sangolli Rayanna Circle to National College Grounds in Bengaluru, he added.

Shivakumar, Siddu pretend to be socialists: Eshwarappa

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivamogga

FORMER minister and BJP leader KS Eshwarappa claimed that leader of opposition Siddaramaiah and KPCC chief DK Shivakumar are involved in a struggle to grab power but pretend to be socialists.

Eshwarappa told media persons on Tuesday that although Siddaramaiah claims to be a socialist, he planned to celebrate his birthday in a mega event, terming that it was done by fans. Not against birthday, he questioned the need to spend more than 75 crore for birthday, and alleged that in the name of his fans, Siddaramaiah is trying to gain mileage.

Regarding KPCC chief DK Shivakumar he alleged that the latter had claimed to follow the principles of Kuvempu by taking all communities together, but last Monday, he took part in a programme of a particular community.

"Definitely he will contest elections from a place which is Muslim-dominated. Otherwise, Hindus would ensure Siddaramaiah's defeat as he has betrayed them," alleged Eshwarappa on Siddaramaiah hunting for other constituencies to contest.

Reacting to the backlash on GST hike, he said that CMs of both Jharkhand and Rajasthan have failed to oppose the issue in the GST meeting and are now criticising the government.

B'luru-Mysuru Expressway to miss Dasara deadline

ASHWINI M SRIPAD
@ Bengaluru

THE much-awaited Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway, that is expected to significantly reduce travel time between the two cities, will not be opened anytime soon. PWD Minister CC Patil said it is unlikely to be ready by October this year, as announced earlier.

The 117-km highway -- stretching from NICE entrance in Bengaluru to Ring Road Junction in Mysuru -- is expected to cut travel time from an average of 3 hours to just 90 minutes, and was expected to be completed by Dasara.

The ten-day Mysuru Dasara celebrations are to be held from September 26 to October 5. The BJP-led State government had plans to invite PM Narendra Modi to inaugurate the ambitious project, in a bid to make him a part of its efforts to strengthen the party base in Old Mysuru region. Now, with work going on at snail's pace in some places, it is not likely to be completed before Dasara.

Sources told TNIE that road work is almost complete, however, structures like flyovers and underpasses are incomplete in most places. The corridor has nine major bridges, 44 minor bridges and four rail overbridges. "We have completed 70 per cent of the work and are trying to complete the remaining at the earliest. It might not be possible to finish work by Dasara," said an official, on condition of anonymity.

In March, Union Minister for Roads and Highways Nitin Gadkari had tweeted about the 10-lane Bengaluru-Mysuru Economic Corridor. He had stated that it was being constructed at record speed, and the Rs 8,172-crore corridor was likely to be completed by October.

In March 2014, the Union Ministry of Surface Transport had announced some roads across the country would be upgraded to NH, and Bengaluru-Mysuru Road was one of them. NHAI is converting the highway (NH 275) into 10 lanes, including a six-lane expressway. Estimated cost of the project in 2014 was ₹4,100 crore, which later doubled.

He told reporters that since the festivities will take place after a gap of two years, it will be grand. The publicity for the festival will be done over the next two to three months. "We will also publicise the event in all metro cities," he added.

Many events, like Gajapayana that are part of the main festival and had been stopped due to Covid will also resume, he said. Unlike other years, there are plans to start Mysuru Dasara exhibition 15 days ahead of the festival.

Besides Mysuru, the government is focusing on celebrating Dasara at Srirangapatna, Chamarajanagar, among others. MUDA will give Rs 10 crore, while the state government will bear the remaining cost. The Mysuru DC has authorised accepting CSR funds.

CM Bommai said in a week, the government is going to issue orders on Mysuru circuit tourism which was announced in the budget this year.

In the complaint to the Chief Election Officer, Election Commission, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah, KPCC president DK Shivakumar, Opposition Leader in the Council BK Hariprasad claimed that BJP leaders were lodged in a five star hotel in the guise of a training session on voting in presidential polls and were served food, liquor and were driven to the voting venue in an AC bus which are acts of bribery and undue influence on MLAs who are the voters. This was done on behalf of NDA presidential candidate Droupadi Murmu for furtherance of her prospects in the elections. They alleged that by these acts, BJP has interfered with the free exercise of electoral rights of the voters, who are MLAs, for which huge sums were spent. The expenditure was borne by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and BJP leadership and this is a violation of the IPC and the Presidential Election Act. They said the returning officer should treat these votes polled in favour of NDA as void.

Probe Maneka's charges against me, dares Prajwal

UDAYA KUMAR BR @ Hassan

BRUSHING aside remarks of former Union minister Maneka Gandhi that he is allegedly interfering with a case where some people from Hassan were caught while trying to sell elephant tusks, Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna said in New Delhi if the allegations are true, the governments at the Centre and state, both ruled by BJP, can investigate it thoroughly.

He said Maneka should have aired her views after going through the issue. The MP said that he knew about the elephant death, but was unaware the accused had removed the tusks and tried to sell them. "I did not pressurise any police officials to transfer the case to my hometown Hassan. I am ready to face any action if the BJP leader proves her allegation with evidence," he added.

Maneka, in a complaint sent to the CM, alleged Prajwal had tried to protect the poachers, who had taken off the tusks from the elephant on March 19. She demanded CM should direct the police to probe the case. She said Prajwal allegedly pressured the Bengaluru police to transfer the case to Hassan limits to protect the accused, who are said to be his supporters. He also allegedly tried to get the forest department to close the case, she added.

THERE is more. Cash declaration registers are not maintained, PAN numbers are not mentioned in documents to evade payment of income tax, registration of revenue sites is done illegally and higher officials neither supervise nor take any action.

With an aim to extend the surprise raids across the state in a phased manner and take remedial measures to curb corruption, judicial officers were involved for the first time in the 10 teams comprising police officials who visited the sub-registrars offices for four days. After the visits, the teams have submitted reports to Karnataka Lokayukta, Justice B S Patil.

"It is unfortunate that these irregularities are causing harassment to the public and no action seems to have been taken and irregularities prima-facie make out a case of mal-administration and derelictions," observed Justice Patil while initiating suo motu proceedings and calling for explanation from the government.

"The reports submitted indicate complaints were received on the spot from the public, who alleged collection of so-called administration charges for registration of documents. Had there been proper and continuous supervision by higher officers, these irregularities could have been prevented and a citizen-friendly system in these offices could have been put in place," the Lokayukta observed.

Cybercriminals siphon off ₹99K from actor-chef

Aditya Bal asked to pay ₹5 by blood bank

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru:

MODEL, actor and renowned chef Aditya Bal, author of 'The Chakh Le India - Cookbook', has become victim of cyber fraud while searching online for B-negative blood for his friend's mother, who was suffering from Covid.

The accused, claiming to be from a blood bank, asked him to pay Rs 5 as hospital admission charge. In the next two transactions, Bal lost Rs 99,000 via UPI money transfer. He was staying at Prestige Glenwood apartment, off Old Madras Road, near Budigere Cross in Bidarahalli, when the incident happened.

The chef, who spoke to TNIE from Delhi, said he doesn't exactly know how he lost the money as he did not share any OTP or other details. He suspects the accused could have got access to his UPI window after he clicked on the link to make the initial Rs 5 transfer. He has filed a complaint with CEN police station. "My friend's aged mother in Kolkata, suffering from Covid, had low haemoglobin level. She was undergoing treatment in the ICU. I was helping as she urgently needed B-negative blood. I came across details of a reputed blood bank with a Kolkata address and contacted them. I got a call from a person who guaranteed arrangement of blood and asked me to make a payment of Rs 5 as hospital admission charges. As I was travelling, I didn't go into the details. The caller also claimed that he was calling from a charity organisation," Bal told TNIE.

The fraudsters had sent a link to make the transfer. After Bal made the initial transfer, the accused withdrew Rs 99,000 from his account. The victim got suspicious after he received another call to make a payment of Rs 9,000. He immediately approached the CEN police.

"The actor claims to have called the bank's Mumbai branch and got his account blocked. The details of the accused's account number have been obtained and would be frozen. If the accused has not withdrawn the money, it can be resent to Aditya Bal's account, following court directions," said an officer who is part of investigations.

The aged woman is said to be recovering and will be discharged from hospital on Wednesday.

Man treated wife as cash cow, amounts to cruelty: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru:

OBSERVING that the husband's materialistic attitude had caused mental agony and emotional trauma to the wife, and is sufficient to make out grounds of mental cruelty for divorce, the Karnataka HC dissolved the marriage of a couple by decree.

Allowing the appeal filed by the 42-year-old woman from the city, challenging the order of the family court which dismissed her divorce plea, a division bench of Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice JM Khazi recently quashed the ex-parte order and decree dated June 22, 2020, passed by the family court in Bengaluru.

Pointing out findings of the family court that the wife failed to prove grounds of cruelty, except financial transactions, the HC said the question of cruelty as ground for divorce has to be determined on the basis of facts of each case, as observed by the Supreme Court.

The court also noted that documents produced by the woman reflected transactions amounting to Rs 60 lakh, made in favour of the husband. It is evident the husband treated his wife as a cash cow, and no emotional ties. His attitude had caused mental agony to her.

IN THE HC

The family court had grossly erred in not appreciating the version of the wife. The ground of cruelty for dissolution of marriage, as provided under Section 10(X) of the Indian Divorce Act is made out, the court added.

The couple married in 1999 in Chikkamagaluru and have a daughter. As the husband had financial issues and was unable to take care of his wife's financial needs, she took up a job in the UAE in 2008, and started working at a bank in Abu Dhabi. She also started paying the debts of her husband's family, and bought agricultural properties in her husband's name. Her husband failed to be financially independent, and in 2012, she realised that he and his family were draining her financially as well as emotionally. She decided to seek divorce but her husband refused.

SBI told to waive off ₹54.09 lakh loan to woman

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

A consumer court has directed the SBI to waive off the entire outstanding housing loan of ₹54.09 lakh to be paid by a woman after her husband died of Covid-19.

Directing SBI to pay ₹1 lakh compensation and ₹20,000 litigation expenses to complainant T Dharani, 36, of Varthur hobli, Bangalore Urban Second Additional District Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission said she suffered financially and mentally due to negligence by the bank. "It amounts to deficiency of service and unfair trade practice by SBI, Whitefield Branch," the Commission said.

After her husband Roopesh Reddy died on May 20, 2021, Dharani approached the Commission stating that she is unable to meet the expenses of her minor children, parents, household and the loan. She entirely depends on the insurance cover but the bank refused to waive off loan.

SBI contended that Dharani and her husband did not give written consent though they had initially agreed for taking the insurance policy by ticking on 'yes' in the application. Hence, SBI Life Insurance Company could not issue policy. In terms of sanction, premium was fixed and collected but not remitted to SBI Life Insurance and hence no life insurance was covered for the borrowers, the bank claimed.

The Commission rejected the bank's defence on the ground that the required formalities were not completed for housing loan insurance coverage under 'SBI Life-RiNn Raksha', though premium with interest was being paid through EMI.

The Commission said it is the duty of the bank to complete formalities for home loan insurance at the time of loan sanction. Instead, the account 'Mc-Maxgain Suraksha' was closed by SBI without intimation to Dharani and her husband. The SBI-Max Gain Home Loan of ₹56.18 lakh was sanctioned to the couple to purchase a flat in Bengaluru in 2019.

Post floods, TS & AP spar over height of Polavaram project

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

AT a time when relief measures are on in full swing in flood-ravaged Bhadrachalam, a new controversy erupted between the two sibling states of Telangana and Andhra Pradesh on Tuesday over the height of the Polavaram project and five villages in Bhadracahalam mandal which went to AP along with six other mandals when the State was divided in 2014.

The mercury in the political barometer shot up in both the states after Telangana Transport Minister Puvvada Ajay Kumar asked neighbouring Andhra Pradesh to "return" five villages in Bhadracahalam mandal to Telangana so that they could take foolproof measures like the construction of flood embankments to prevent the submergence of the famous Ramalayam and other parts of the temple town.

Ajay Kumar, speaking to the media, said that to prevent flooding of Bhadrachalam, the height of the Polavaram project, being constructed 73

km downstream of Godavari from Bhadrachalam in AP, should be reduced. He demanded that the Centre should introduce a Bill in Parliament for the transfer of the five villages in Bhadrachalam mandal back to Telangana. "If AP hands over five villages back to Telangana, then the TS government will take up flood safety measures. We cannot take up construction works in AP," he said.

Centre decides: Ambati

Cut to the quick by Ajay Kumar's demand, AP Water Resources Minister Ambati Rambabu joined the issue, advising the Telangana Minister not to create a controversy, where there was none. "It is irresponsible to say that increasing the height of the Polavaram project would lead to flooding of Bhandrachalam," he said and pointed out that the project's Full Reservoir Level of 45.72 metre was decided by the Central Water Commission after a thorough inspection. "Polavaram, which is a national project, is being executed by the Central government and the State government is an implementing authority only," he pointed out. The AP Minister further stated that Central Water Power Research Centre has thoroughly studied it before permission for the projects was accorded.

Give us Hyderabad: Botcha

AP Education Minister Botcha Satyanarayana took the controversy to another level, saying that he wanted to know if Telangana would agree to the merger of Hyderabad with AP since the latter had lost heavily in terms of revenue after Hyderabad went to Telangana. If they are ready to give Hyderabad to us, we welcome it, he said.

NEET horror: Five arrests, four more complaints

NTA forms committee to look into plaints

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kollam

THE Chadayamangalam police on Tuesday arrested five women on exam duty for allegedly forcing girls to remove their innerwear at a National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (NEET) in Kollam on Sunday, even as four more girls came forward and filed similar complaints with the police.

Meanwhile, the National Testing Agency (NTA), the Central agency that conducts NEET, will send a fact-finding committee to Kollam to look into the incident. The arrested persons include cleaning staff S Mariyamma and K Mariyamma of Mar Thoma Institute of Information and Technology, Ayur, where the examination was held and Geethu, Jyotsna Joby and Beena who are employees of Star Training Academy, the private agency that conducted the exam. They have been charged under Sections 354 (Assault or criminal force to a woman with intent to outrage her modesty) and 509 (Word, gesture, or act intended to insult the modesty of a woman) of the IPC. "They are being interrogated," said DIG (Thiruvananthapuram range) R Nishitani.

The incident had gained national attention and drew widespread condemnation. On Tuesday, the college witnessed major protests by students organisations. The cyber police carried out an inspection at the college and seized CCTV footage. "It has been confirmed that some women frisked the examinees. We have received four more complaints, taking the total number to five. An investigation is on," said Kottarakkara DySP G D Vijayakumar

The NTA had given the contract for conducting the exam to a private agency in Thiruvananthapuram, which roped another agency in Karunagappally and the latter deployed 10 untrained personnel for the job. The police said these personnel were involved in frisking the aspirants.

Meanwhile, Higher Education Minister R Bindu wrote to Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Tuesday, expressing anguish over Sunday's incident. MP N K Premachandran too took up the matter with Pradhan.

Students organisations took out a protest march to Mar Thoma Institute of Information and Technology in protest against the incident on Tuesday.

Shiradi Ghat to be one-way for now: Min

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TO reduce the burden on the existing Shiradi Ghat stretch on the Bengaluru-Mangaluru route, which is facing frequent landslides due to heavy rain, the state government for the time being is working on an alternative one-way route for vehicles coming towards Bengaluru, said PWD Minister CC Patil here on Tuesday.

He said the road is expected to be ready in one week and after that, the government will remove restrictions imposed on the movement of heavy vehicles on the stretch. Vehicles going from Bengaluru to Mangaluru will take the existing Shiradi Ghat stretch, while those in the reverse direction will go through Kappalli and Kesaganahalli villages near Donigal which is close to Sakleshpur in Hassan.

The minister said the Hassan deputy commissioner has been instructed to issue orders for the one-way movement on these stretches. It will be a temporary measure and Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has ordered the release of funds immediately. Now, only light motor vehicles are allowed because of frequent landslides.

Because of heavy rain, the state has witnessed 63 landslides this year at Sampaje, Arabail, Agumbe and Gerusoppa ghats and other places. At Shidari Ghat, works like micro-piling and soil nailing are going on that are aimed at finding a permanent solution, he added.

He said the government is committed to meet the deadline to complete the works on Shiradi Ghat road, a 35 km stretch, by March-end next year. "There should not be any such issues by next monsoon. Of the 39 km stretch, 20 km falls under the National Highway and is in good condition. The works are going on in the remaining 19 km stretch. The works were delayed because of the monsoon. The chief minister said if needed, he will discuss it with the Union Minister for Road Transports and Highways for speeding up the works. But it is not needed at present," he added.

Officials inspect the landslide spot at 2nd Monnangeri village on Tuesday

Fresh landslide, loud thud heard at 2nd Monnangeri

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Madikeri

A fresh landslide was reported from 2nd Monnangeri village in Kodagu's Madikeri taluk on Monday night. Minutes before the landslide, the residents heard a loud thud. The landslide also washed away the makeshift bridge installed by the villagers.

2nd Monnangeri village in Madikeri taluk was one among the worst-hit villages in the 2018 landslides. A half-constructed Ramakolli bridge stands proof to the unscientific and delayed relief works in the area. The villagers reported to have heard a loud sound that was followed by a fresh landslide near the Ramakolli bridge. Authorities, including MLAs K G Bopaiah and Appachu Ranjan and DC BC Sateesha visited the spot. Officials conducted an inspection and stressed on the need for a scientific study. "The residents reported to have heard a loud sound and a new landslide was recorded around 7.30 pm on Monday. The debris of the landslide has damaged the bridge. A scientific study of the village is required to determine the cause for such frequent slides. There is not much human interference in the area," said Bopaiah.

MINI RECCE PLANNED FIRST

"EARLIER I had done a recce in 2019 with Dr M Ravichandran, Secretary, Ministry of Earth Sciences, when he was the director of the institute. Now we are being given access to the campus and also do research," he said. The Canadian High Commission has confirmed to this paper that the expedition by Indian researchers would be "some time in November this year". A memorandum of understanding on conducting the research there had been signed with Canada in 2019. The expedition was to be carried out earlier had the Covid-19 pandemic not come in the way. The team will comprise researchers from across India, but it is yet to be finalised as to which other Indian institutes and researchers will be a part of it. The research will aim at understanding the facilities there, improving community life, taking up study of particulate matter, understanding the reasons for the melting pattern, and taking up mountain study projects. Krishnan said a mini recce is being planned first and then final details will be chalked out. Senior glaciologist Dr Anil V Kulkarni, Distinguished Scientist, Divecha Centre for Climate Change (DCCC) said such studies are required for a better understanding of the melting of the glaciers and the pace at which it is happening.A DCCC study in 2019, based on projections, found climate change and global warming presenting a scary scenario for India with 2,026 glaciers in the Sutlej river basin in the Himalayas losing up to 81 percent of the area, and many of them likely to completely vanish by the year 2090.

This threatens the sustenance of — and presents an occurrence of catastrophes for — lakhs of people among the mountain communities due to flash floods from glacial lake water bursts when rain and glacier ice melt to fill up hollows once occupied by the glaciers. This worrisome projection was published in the May 25, 2019 issue of Current Science.

K-RERA asks govt for addl staff to manage workload

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Real Estate Regulatory Authority (K-RERA) has requested the State Government to provide it with 81 new staffers to manage its workload. This will be an addition to the 64 sanctioned posts already.

A K-RERA source said, "We are getting bitter complaints from home buyers about many complaints still awaiting redressal. There is an acute shortage of staff. Our request is still being processed by the government. If it comes through, it would be a major relief." A major area for which staff are required are for cross verification of the updates provided by builders, the source said. "As of now, quarterly updates are to be uploaded by the promoter. Wherever possible, we are trying to crosscheck the data provided. Home buyers rely on this input and we are in critical need of more staffers to crosscheck this," the source added.

Another area for which staffers are required are for the new benches created inside the RERA. "Since April this year, we are having six benches which are managed by the chairman and the two members. However, we need judgment writers, stenos and clerks for each of these benches to become more efficient," the source added.

Another official said though there are 64 sanctioned posts, there are vacancies in them too.

Meanwhile, 3,381 complaints have been heard by the authority of the 6,993 complaints received by it during the last five years from when it commenced operations in Karnataka, that accounts for less than 50%.

RERA chairman HC Kishore Chandra did not respond to repeated calls.

Home buyers blame Ozone Urbana for cheating

ENS @ Bengaluru

Home buyers and customers of realty firm Ozone Urbana have alleged that the firm, after reportedly collecting Rs 80 crore with the promise of handing over flats, has failed to do so.

The buyers have also made banks and institutions – India Bulls, HDFC, Piramal Capital and Bank of Baroda -- party to their complaint for alleged association with the builder. A complaint was registered at Halasuru Police Station limits on July 17.

Home buyers complained that the promoter cheated them by selling the flats under different Ponzi schemes, including buyback scheme, subvention scheme, 2X scheme and others.

The FIR stated that the flat bookings started in 2015-17 and construction was not completed as per the committed timeline. They complained to RERA that it was cheating by the promoter and alleged that the promoter has not deposited 70 per cent of the money into Escrew account.

The promoter got 95 per cent of the money from the home buyers, but failed to deliver the homes, the buyers alleged in their complaint.

TELANGANA PEOPLE STRUGGLE AFTER GODAVARI DELUGE

Like Noah's deluge, the Godavari floods ravaged Telangana last week. Waters are receding now, leaving a trail of destruction and human agony. The discharge at Bhadrachalam was unprecedented, ranging between 25 lakh and 30 lakh cusecs for four to five days. The water level remained at 71.3 ft, much above the final flood warning of 53 ft. The temple town of Bhadrachalam and several villages in the Bhadradri Kothagudem district bore the brunt. The authorities shifted nearly 25,000 people living in low-lying areas to safer places in the district. Elsewhere in Telangana too, the rains and the floods wreaked havoc in the erstwhile districts of Adilabad, Karimnagar, and Warangal. The state witnessed Godavari floods of this intensity for the first time since 1986.

Parts of Bhadrachalam town are still submerged and people face knee-deep water in places. Many residents erected make-shift shelters on the rooftops of their homes. Unscrupulous elements are taking advantage of the situation, by jacking up the prices of essential commodities. An LPG cylinder is selling at ₹2,000 or more. People have rice the government supplied, but they cannot cook unless they shell out the money for gas. The Ram Temple, one of the holiest shrines in the country, is still surrounded by water.

Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao blamed a cloudburst for the floods that "could have been triggered by foreign hands inimical to the interests of the nation" without any empirical evidence. He also said the worst is over "because of God's grace"—which speaks a lot about the need for foolproof flood management. The state cannot afford the luxury of forgetting the pain and must act in advance in future, for instance, by constructing a project at Kupti to prevent flooding of the Kadem project downstream in the Adilabad district. In the recent floods, water overflowed the Kadem project even though all its 17 gates were opened, presenting a terrifying sight. In this hour of crisis, the centre, putting aside politics, should come forward with liberal assistance to the state. The centre and the state should jointly evolve flood-control methods for the next monsoon season.

BCCI SHOULD CLEAR AIR ABOUT KOHLI

There were quite a few exclusions when the Indian team for the West Indies one-day internationals was named. Some big names were missing, but the one that caught the eye was former skipper Virat Kohli. In sports, the most poignant scene for any fan is watching a legend struggle. If it is towards the end of the career, the distress multiplies. The heart may silently pray for a miracle, but the mind notices the chinks in the once-impregnable armour. Luck suddenly deserts the legend, the foot movement leaden, the shots tentative, the sight unable to assess the length of the incoming ball. Kohli probably finds himself in a similar situation after years of hectic cricket at the highest level. In the era of franchise cricket, players do not get time to reflect on the game, think, and make amends. If you are at the top and have millions of fans (on social media too), things get complicated for you.

So, when Kolhi's name was missing from the team for the West Indies series, it led to the question of why he dropped/rested. Did he ask for rest or did the board decide to rest him? The questions were endless. The Indian cricket board, like always, was silent. If he was indeed rested and not dropped, it reflects on how demanding the sport has of late become.

Since the last T20 World Cup in October-November, Kohli has taken a break from three series in under eight months. He is an intense character, and too much cricket is perhaps causing burnout. Many top players have quit playing all three formats because of the ruthless schedule. With the entire nation closely following Kohli's movements on and off the pitch, the pressure could be getting to him. Maybe he needs to rest and reboot. We don't know. The Indian cricket's officialdom should get more proactive. It should clear unclarified doubts that foment speculations. It is time to bring back selection committee interactions of the good old days. Of late, there is none. Wild speculations hurt and we should ensure that Kohli, one of the game's greats, doesn't get hurt.

Her victory symbolises a tribute to all leaders of tribal communities who have always worked hard to uphold the traditions, heritage and identity of the Scheduled Tribes

WHY DROUPADI MURMU IS IMPORTANT

SOUMYADIP SINHA

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE

President, ICCR and senior BJP leader

It is often said about Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his senior colleague Amit Shah, ably backed by Party President J P Nadda, that none of their key decisions is free from strategic thinking. They are seasoned politicians and, unsurprisingly, a larger political game plan always guides their decisions. However, one must understand that social justice is at the centre of their politics. This explains the latest decision of the BJP/NDA to nominate Droupadi Murmu as the presidential candidate and Jagdeep Dhankhar as the nominee for the post of vice-president.

In Droupadi Murmu, a senior and experienced leader from Odisha and only in her mid-sixties, the nation is set to get its first woman president from the tribal community. Also, the first one from Odisha. Her predecessor, Ramnath Kovind, too was the first Scheduled Caste leader from Uttar Pradesh to rise to the highest position. During its first term in office, the NDA ensured a regional North-South balance with Ramnath Kovind and Venkaiah Naidu. This time, it is the East-West balance, with Droupadi Murmu from the east and Jagdeep Dhankhar from the western state of Rajasthan.

However, next Monday, when Droupadi Murmu is sworn in as president of India, history will witness different styles of politics—politics of social and gender justice of the BJP/NDA and politics of total bankruptcy of the combined opposition.

Recently, a senior leader of Bahujan Vikas Aghadi, Prakash Ambedkar, rightly expressed his anguish over the sheer lack of direction displayed by the combined opposition. He said that the Congress party completely lacks acumen and that the party cannot match the political vision displayed by the Modi-Shah-Nadda combine and other NDA leaders in selecting Droupadi Murmu.

Though Yashwant Sinha is Droupadi Murmu's opponent, it is natural that people will compare her to Margaret Alva, the 80-year-old vice-presidential candidate of the combined opposition. The difference is stark. Murmu comes from the humblest of backgrounds. Alva is a dynast who hails from a privileged family and both her parents were MPs in the past. Murmu represents Antyodaya, the movement for prioritising the most deprived for empowerment. In contrast, Alva's candidature reinforces the point that dynasty-driven parties prefer dynasts. However, what is more noteworthy here is the Modi government's approach to taking social and gender justice beyond tokenism. Remarkably, the PM minced no words while bringing to the people's notice the contradictory and hypocritical stance many take towards their sons and daughters.

When parents are prepared to impose restrictions on their daughters, "why are they unwilling to impose them on their sons", he asked in one of his Independence Day addresses. With the same bluntness, he pointed out: "Parents ask their daughters hundreds of questions, but have any parents ever dared to ask their son where he is going, why he is going out, who his friends are. ... try to do this with your sons, try to ask such questions of them. ... As a member of society, as parents, we also have some responsibilities." Notably, long before asking the people for an attitudinal change, the Modi government reposed its confidence in women's power in multiple ways. The Prime Minister is convinced that women can play leadership roles more effectively. In Gujarat, when he was the Chief Minister, he made it a point to give women the charge of village water distribution committees. This ensured frictionless implementation. It was in Gujarat that he launched the Chiranjeevi Yojana (CY) way back in 2007 to promote institutional deliveries. With a renewed emphasis on the promotion of institutional deliveries through more incentives and by plugging loopholes in centrally funded Janani Suraksha Yojana (JSY), the share of India's institutional deliveries increased to 88.6% in 2019–2021 (National Family Health Survey 5) from 40.8% in 2005–06 (NHFS 3).

In the 21st century, we have a new Droupadi who also struggled a lot, went through many hardships, and braved the loss of near and dear ones but always emerged victorious through resoluteness and commitment. She symbolises a fight-to-win spirit

The Notion of Equality has at least three fundamentals—Equality of Security, Dignity and also of Opportunities. Combining financial security and social dignity, the Modi government ensured women's participation in domestic financial decisions by making them owners of houses constructed under the Pradhan Mantri Aawas Yojana. Today, over two crore houses constructed under the PMAY are in the names of women.

More than 80% of the loans disbursed under the "Standup India" programme are also in the names of women. Under the Mudra Yojana, the number of women beneficiaries stands at about 70%. Conscious of the key role of women in early childhood care, the government increased maternity leave for women from 12 weeks to 26 weeks, brought in strict laws for their safety at the workplace and provision of capital punishment for rape. Also noteworthy is that today the country is opening up greater roles for girls in the defence services by giving a green signal for their admission in Sainik Schools.

All this makes the ascendancy of Droupadi Murmu, now our president-designate, reflective of the empowered woman of New India. Droupadi of the Mahabharata was a fighter who sacrificed a lot for the sake of her family.

In the 21st century, we have a new Droupadi who also struggled a lot, went through many hardships, and braved the loss of near and dear ones but always emerged victorious through resoluteness and commitment. She symbolises a fight-to-win spirit. Her victory symbolises a tribute to all leaders of tribal communities who have always worked hard to uphold the traditions, heritage and identity of the Scheduled Tribes. From Birsa Munda to Tantya Bhil, from Umaji Naik of Maharashtra to Tirot Singh of Meghalaya, from Gunda Dhur of Chhattisgarh to Tilka Manjhi of Bihar, the Droupadi Murmu presidency is a statement of the nation's gratitude to all such freedom fighters from the tribal communities.

ROARING LION OF THE NATIONAL EMBLEM

CHANDRAN T V

Art critic & author. Teaches art history at the College of Fine Arts, Thiruvananthapuram

Referring to the symbolism of the lion capital of Sarnath, Roy C. Craven says, "... the Buddha's clan, the Shakyas, had the lion its totem, so the lion may refer to him as well. The Buddha is often called a "lion" and his words, "the voice of the lion" or simhaghosha. It is tempting to suggest that the four addorsed lions, with their open mouths, may have served as a dual metaphor, referring both to Ashoka, whose words were inscribed on the pillar, ... and to Shakyamuni and his teachings, some of which were first revealed at Sarnath." However, when the same image is used as the national emblem, such symbolism is not as meaningful as it was in the specific time and place of its origin.

Although the depiction in every minute detail looks exactly like the original in Sarnath, the national emblem carries an altogether different meaning. It no more serves as a Buddhist or Ashokan symbol but as an image of the nation that has "imagined" or reconstructed a glorious past in which Buddhism and non-violence had deep roots in religious and political life. In essence, it becomes an iconic image representing a unique history that every Indian is taught and expected to be proud of. What was once a religious symbol thus turned out as a secular image of the nation.

Under the influence of Persian art, Mauryan art, as a whole, manifests a distinct sculptural stylisation. It is perceptible in the Sarnath lion. Set in a strictly symmetrical posture, the lion looks far from the real one because of its decorative flourish that vividly appears in the detailing of the face, whiskers and the richly carved thick mane. This artistic interplay between the real and abstraction renders the lion extra-ordinarily beautiful. Although it looks 'roaring', its ferocity is toned down to gently suggest a metaphor of supreme power—the power of dharma of Shakyamuni.

The artists who re-produced the lion in the national emblem seem to be incapable of perceiving this crucial point that determines the Mauryan style. Although the artists claimed that there was "no deviation" but "paid attention to details", their recast is, in a single and simple term, repulsive. It is, for many reasons, not the result of scaling and angle of visibility, as it is often justified, but obviously a product of their insensitive eyes which misguided their skill in copying the subtle beauty of the original. That apart, it seems there was a conscious effort to deviate from the classical, majestic lion to turn it into a wild, aggressive, over-eaten, taut-muscled beast of naturalism for the new emblem. Its intimidating expression is so perceptible that no one can lose sight of it. Being "more ferocious", this lion in the forest was the epicentre of the controversy. Its defenders prove it further. Anupam Kher tweeted: "If the lion has teeth, it will, of course, show them. This is, after all, the lion of independent India. If needed, the lion will bite, too." The Kashmir Files Director, Vivek Agnihotri, reacted similarly in his tweet: "The new national emblem at the Central Vista has proved one thing that ... urban naxals want a silent lion without teeth. So that they can use it as a pet." The defenders themselves acknowledge the change in the expression—a past symbol referring to non-violence has become an image of violence. This sea change is not exceptional or accidental; rather, it keeps pace with a series of events which have been taking place in our visual culture since the 1980s.

"One of the functions of nationalist depictions," as Romila Thapar observes, "is to locate cultures, usually by defining a national culture that selects some aspects of history and symbolism, but sidelines others." Thapar cites the television serial Chanakya as an interesting example to illustrate this point. As she continues, Ashoka was the greatest of all Mauryan kings and the existence of numerous Ashokan edicts throughout the country, which still remain "as landmarks in many cities renders Ashoka a commonly evoked name in many contemporary and popular histories. But the Doordarshan's serialised drama about the Mauryas did not focus on Ashoka, who converted to Buddhism, but instead depicted his Brahmin adviser Chanakya as a hero of the Mauryan empire."

This dichotomy may also be seen reflected in how the installation ceremony of the new national emblem was organised—a secular emblem of the Indian Republic was installed unhesitantly against its own ethos with an elaborate performance of Hindu rituals. More shockingly, the opposition parties were offered no space to be part of the function at any point in time.

It is in this new political reality which brushes aside secular and democratic values that the new cast national emblem comes out with "more ferocious" lions. They breathe a new life, just like the holy men of new India, the sadhus and sanyasis, the renouncers, who now come out roaring with swords from their world of meditation to that of agitation. All this shows a fundamental change that has been taking place in modes of apprehending India through the eyes of cultural nationalism.

Stop Kallakurichi violence

This is with reference to Schoolgirl death: Court orders fresh autopsy (July 19). This incident and the riots that followed it have shown that social media has its own merits and demerits. In this case, it was used to incite violence and create uproar. Students from various districts joined WhatsApp and Facebook groups in the name of justice. But the unprecedented mob violence in Kallakurichi led to school property being damaged. Even outsiders joined these protests for cheap gains and fun. The police need to be more proactive and stop the violence from bubbling over.

NEET's dirty rule

This is with reference to NEET not so neat, girls asked to remove innerwear before examination (July 19). It must have been extremely humiliating for the girls and their parents to have faced such a situation. Although it is important to promote a conducive atmosphere during examinations, this is certainly not the way to go about it. Just to prevent exam malpractice, these girls were treated in such a manner—so, people need to assess if such measures are helping or jeopardising.

Sagar Babu, Andhra Pradesh

Punish NEET culprits

This is an atrocious situation and I feel terrible for the girls. Our Constitution guarantees freedom to every citizen in the country—why did this happen then? Girls have to put up with so much on a daily basis. By attending the exam, they were on their road to independence. But this one incident must have deeply affected them. What were the people who asked these girls to do this thinking? The government should take strict action against those who forced the girls to do this.

Merinth, Thiruvananthapuram

Parents should protest

The girls must have felt so hopeless after this. It is appalling that NEET permitted such intrusive behaviour. The parents should take this issue up so that something like this never happens again to any other student.

India emerges victorious

Hats off to the Indian cricket team for their victory over England. Our players are the most talented in batting. Hopefully, Team India will shine in the match against West Indies too. If they carry this very attitude moving forward, they just might be able to clinch the T20 World Cup in October 2022.

19 LABOURERS MISSING FROM CHINA BORDER IN ARUNACHAL

The men from Assam were engaged in construction of a road to the border

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR
@Guwahati

NINETEEN construction labourers from Assam have been missing since they fled their camp near the China border in Kurung Kumey district of Arunachal Pradesh on July 5. They were engaged in the construction of a border road from Huri under Damin circle in the district to the international border. The Border Roads Organisation is executing the project.

The body of a man, suspected to be that of one of the missing men, was found near a river at a distance on Monday, following which the authorities sent two teams of health workers, police personnel and a magistrate to the site on Tuesday. However, District Magistrate Bengia Nighee told this newspaper that the teams did not find any body.

Nighee said there were altogether 30 labourers at the camp. "Nineteen labourers, mostly Muslims from Assam, had fled the camp on the night of July 5, possibly to go home and celebrate Eid. They went towards the jungle and have been missing since," the DM said.

"They were brought by a sub-contractor, who left the camp sometime in June, promising to return by June 25. When he did not show up, another person left the camp saying he would go to a nearby place where there is mobile connectivity and call up the sub-contractor. There is no news about this man too," Nighee said, adding that local labourers and rescuers had conducted searches for two-three days but did not find the missing persons. Subsequently, no search operation could be conducted for several days as a portion of the road leading to the jungle was washed away by the rains.

Nighee said the administration has no idea about the whereabouts of the persons. He ruled out the possibility of the men inadvertently entering China, citing the densely-forested and mountainous area as the reason.

The aerial distance to the international border is around 15-20 km but Nighee said it may take up to 20-30 days even for mountaineers to reach the border. "It is impossible for these people to reach the international border. They might go towards Upper Subansiri but, even in that case, it will take about 30 days to reach the district," the DM said.

"Also, they have no idea about the local geography, or about which side will take them where. The jungle is infested with poisonous snakes and the locals are afraid of venturing into it," he added, saying that he will write to the state government to explore the possibility of searches by helicopters.

Full-fledged village built near Doklam by Chinese PLA, claim reports

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

FIVE years after the Doklam stand-off between the Indian troops and the People's Liberation Army (PLA) over the construction of a road near Bhutanese territory, fresh evidence of a fully inhabited village barely 9 km east of the previous flashpoint area has emerged, according to media reports.

This village is said to lie "squarely" in Bhutanese territory. Satellite images show that it is not only fully inhabited but most of the houses have cars parked in front of them. Close to the village is an "all-weather carriageway" which enters 10 kms into Bhutan and is along the banks of Amo Chu river.

The emergence of "Pangda" as a fully populated village is a throwback to the 2017 Doklam crisis when Indian and Chinese troops faced off each other for 72 days. At that time, the media reports said, Indian soldiers had prevented Chinese workers from accessing a strategic ridge – Jhamperi – adjacent to the Doklam plateau.

This ridge, the reports indicate, would give an advantage to the PLA in that it would give it a "direct line-of-sight" to the Siliguri corridor or the 'Chicken's Neck' which connects the Northeast to the rest of India. Besides, the Jhamperi ridge indicates that the Chinese PLA now seeks to go around Indian army defences by using an alternate route to reach the feature.

The fresh satellite images, which have been sourced from Maxar, a satellite imaging service, show a fully constructed bridge at the village, besides "foundations of six buildings" the reports said.

The reports quote a geospatial intelligence researcher as saying that "the speed and development of this remote area is noteworthy, underlining how China is extending its borders uncontested".

Oppn, govt spar over inflation and fuel prices

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Opposition parties continued their protest in both Houses of Parliament on the second day of the monsoon session on Tuesday to press for urgent discussions on issues like price rise, GST and the Agnipath scheme.

While the Opposition protested over inflation and rise in fuel prices, the data tabled in Parliament showed the Centre's earning from petroleum sector almost jumped ₹1.5 lakh crore between 2018-19 and 2021-2022 and doubled that of the states' earning.

Leaders of various parties held a sit-in in front of the Gandhi statue. The Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge said the Congress will fight against rising inflation and rate hike of some essential commodities. "Today, Opposition parties have come together to protest against price rise, inflation and GST rate hike of some essential commodities. We will fight against this," said Mallikarjun Kharge.

In response to a question in the Upper House on petroleum prices rise, the government said the contribution of petroleum sector to the Central exchequer during the year 2018-19 was ₹3,48,041 crore which increases to ₹4,92, 303 crores in 2021-22.

The fuel prices comparison of last five years shows petrol was ₹71.38 per litre in January 2018 and increased to ₹95.21 per litre in January 2022 while diesel went up to ₹86.67 per litre in January 2022 from ₹61.89 per litres in January 2018, according to official data.

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi and other Opposition MPs protest against inflation near the Gandhi statue in Parliament | PTI

Attacking Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Rahul Gandhi alleged that it is "unparliamentary" on the part of the prime minister to not answer questions and run away from a discussion in Parliament.

The Opposition members disrupted the proceedings in both the Houses and raised slogans of "Modi-Shah ki taanashahi nahin chalegi", "Mehangai par Halla Bol", "GST wapis lo and some even flashed placards. Initially, the two Houses were adjourned for the first half but the commotion continued during the second half, when the legislative business was being taken up.

As MPs were protesting, audio of Sansad TV was repeatedly muted. The Rajya Sabha took up the weapons of mass destruction bill and External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar spoke briefly, before the Upper House was adjourned for the day.

"We will push for a discussion on price rise and notices given by several members from opposition parties were rejected by the Chair in both the houses," said a senior Opposition leader. Congress MP Jairman Ramesh alleged that the government was acting "stubborn", but Minister of State for Parliamentary Affairs V Muraleedharan hit back, saying Opposition parties were creating a "ruckus" as they did not want any meaningful debate in Parliament and only wished to blame the government outside the House.

Speaker Om Birla appealed to the Opposition members to return to their seats and said carrying placards inside the House was against parliamentary rules.

'Foreign hand in radicalisation'

"Some foreign agencies inimical to India", along with global terrorist groups, have been making efforts to radicalise people, Minister of State for Home Nityanand Rai told the Lok Sabha on Tuesday. He attributed this "radicalisation" to ISIS and al-Qaeda and described this as "one of the most challenging problems faced by countries". Rai said inclination towards radical ideologies is miniscule compared to population.

Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde along with 12 MPs in a meeting | SHEKHAR YADAV

12 Shiv Sena MPs back CM Eknath Shinde

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

SHIV Sena Lok Sabha MP Rahul Shewale on Tuesday said Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Uddhav Thackeray had a meeting for over an hour in June 2021, where it was decided that the two parties would keep their differences aside and patch up again in Maharashtra. However, the suspension of 12 BJP MLAs in the monsoon session of the Maharashtra assembly spoiled the plan, Shewale claimed.

At a press conference in New Delhi, Shewale and 11 other Sena MPs joined Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde camp. Shewale claimed that they had several meetings with Uddhav on the possible tie-up with the BJP again. "Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut is witness to the meetings. We told Uddhav that Sena MPs won elections in alliance with the BJP in 2019. So we demanded that if Sena extend support to the BJP candidate for presidential elections, then it would open the opportunity for both parties to tie-up again," Shewale added.

"During one of the meetings, Uddhav Thackeray told us that he had met PM Narendra Modi in June 2021 where they talked about alliance with the BJP and the Sena. But in July, 12 BJP MLAs got suspended from the Maharashtra assembly monsoon session for their allegedly unruly conduct in the House. And that put the alliance talk on hold. BJP leaders complained that Sena wanted to patch up, but it suspended 12 MLAs," he said.

As per Uddhav's instructions, Shewale claimed to have taken the initiative to talk to the BJP again. "The BJP leadership was positive. But Uddhav Thackeray started dragging his feet for alliance. We tried to pursue with Uddhav but did not get positive response. Therefore, all Lok Sabha MPs of Shiv Sena decided to rally with Eknath Shinde, who formed the government with the BJP. We want to ally with the BJP only."

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, NCP's Sharad Pawar, Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge were present. Population Bill not on plate, govt says in House

NEW DELHI: Even as some ruling party MPs, including a cabinet minister, have flagged the need for bringing a population control bill, Union Health Ministry on Tuesday said it's not considering any such proposal. To a written question by Kerala MP John Brittas in the Rajya Sabha, Minister of State for Health and Family Welfare Bharti Pravin Pawar said, "The government is not contemplating any legislative measures." The government's efforts in controlling the population growth through awareness campaigns were successful, she added.

FRESH ROW AS SKM DUBS MSP PANEL AS BOGUS AND BIASED

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

A fresh confrontation is brewing after a 26-member committee the Centre notified to examine the minimum support price (MSP) mechanism for crops, was rejected outright as bogus and biased by the Samyukta Kisan Morcha (SKM), an umbrella body of tillers that spearheaded an year-long agitation against three contentious farm laws.

The SKM was particularly piqued as its prime demand of legal guarantee to MSP was not part of the terms of reference of the panel. Three members of the SKM are part of the panel, but the body decided they will not participate in its deliberations.

In the Lok Sabha, Union agriculture minister Narendra Singh Tomar hammered the point of no assurance to the SKM on legal guarantee to the MSP regime, when the Centre announced the panel's formation in November.

EXPERTS ON PANEL

Former Union agriculture secretary Sanjay Aggarwal to head panel

Niti Aayog's Ramesh Chand, C S C Shekhar from the IEG, Sukhpal Singh from IIM-A and member of the Commission for Agricultural Costs and Prices Naveen P Singh part of panel

National award-winning farmer Bharat Bhushan Tyagi included

The committee was finally constituted last week after eight months, but it was unveiled on Monday. Curiously, while officers from Karnataka, Odisha, Sikkim and Andhra Pradesh are part of the panel, it has no representative no from Punjab, Haryana and UP, the states that were on the warpath.

In March, when the government had asked the SKM for names for this committee, the farmers' body had sought clarifications but never got a reply. On July 3, the SKM decided that unless the government clarifies the jurisdiction and terms of reference of the panel, there was no point in nominating representatives to it.

CROWNING GLORY

Wah Taj! Monument of love India's biggest money grosser

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

TAJ Mahal remains the highest revenue generating monument in India. The Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) has collected about ₹132 crore from the sale of tickets at the 'monument of love' in the last three years.

Even during the Covid-19 pandemic, when all heritage sites and monuments were closed for months and had a cap on the numbers of visitors, the crowning glory of India's tourism fetched over ₹9.5 crore in 2019-20, which was the highest revenue collection from a centrally protected historical building.

Earning from the Taj is about 24 per cent of total revenue generated by the ASI from the sale of entry tickets for three financial years from 2019 to 2022. In 2019-20, revenue earned from Taj Mahal was ₹97.5 crore while in 2021-22, it was ₹25.61 crore.

The ASI received additional ₹17.76 crore in the last three years with the sale of a separate entry permit costing ₹200 for the main mausoleum (marble enclosure), which houses replicas of the graves of the Mughal royalty. This new arrangement was introduced in December 2018.

The Survey manages and protects 3,693 monuments, including 143 ticketed sites, in the country.

All these protected monuments and sites were closed in March 2020 after the Covid outbreak. After the pandemic subsided, the heritage buildings were reopened but some, which were in containment zones, remained out of bounds for tourists.

Other significant revenue grossers are Red Fort and Qutub Minar in Delhi, which earned ₹6.01 crore and ₹5.07 crore, respectively, in 2021-2022. Before the outbreak of the Covid pandemic, the ASI's proceeds from 16th century fort-palace in 2019-20 was ₹16.23 crore and in 2020-21, it was ₹90 lakh.

The Survey earned ₹20.17 crore from the sale of tickets of Qutub Minar in 2019-20. During the pandemic year, the revenue from 12th century brick minaret plummeted to ₹1.56 crore.

The Agra Fort, the group of monuments at Mamallapuram, the Sun Temple at Konark, Chittorgarh Fort, Khajuraho grup of temples, Ellora Caves, Shaniwar Wada in Pune, Golconda Fort in Hyderabad and Humayun's Tomb in Delhi also feature in the list of highest revenue generating heritage sites of ASI.

Lulu Mall: Anarchy not to be tolerated, says CM

Lucknow Police arrests 4 persons seen in video showing namaz

Notices regarding ban on religious prayers have been put up at Lulu Mall in Lucknow | PTI

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

BREAKING his silence on the ongoing controversy over offering religious prayers at the new Lulu Mall in Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Tuesday said anarchy in any form would not be tolerated, and directed the district administration to deal with mischief-makers with an iron fist.

Meanwhile, the Lucknow Police on Tuesday arrested four persons — Noman, Lukman, Atif and Rehan — among those seen in the viral video that showed namaz being offered in the corridors of the mall.

Yogi's directions to officials came during his meeting with the authorities on late Monday night, when he said, "There is a mall which has opened in Lucknow. It is working as a commercial establishment. Making it a political battleground, giving unnecessary statements, protesting on streets and hampering public movement is uncalled for. The Lucknow district administration should take it seriously as a malicious attempt is being made to create communal disharmony with anarchy. The administration should deal strictly with those trying to spoil the atmosphere by promoting unnecessary issues."

The CM reiterated that no one irrespective of religion would be given permission to perform religious activities in public places.

The Lulu Mall in Lucknow, the fifth one in India, is owned by businessman Yusuf Ali MA. It was inaugurated by Yogi on July 10. It has been constructed in over 11 acres at a whopping cost of ₹2,000 crore.

A controversy erupted soon after when a video of a bunch of Muslim men offering namaz at the mall went viral, after which right wing outfits like Akhil Bharatiya Hindu Mahasabha and Karni Sena thronged the premises to recite Sunder Kand and Hanuman Chalisa.

The right-wing activists had also been demonstrating at the mall and the roads approaching it, leading to huge traffic snarls. The police arrested three demonstrators and detained many for protesting at the mall. An FIR was registered in this case on July 14 on the basis of a written complaint given by Sibtain Hussain, part of the mall authorities, against unidentified persons.

the group has also announced projects in Varanasi and Prayagraj.

The mall administration has also refuted allegations that most of the staff is from the Muslim community.

Rape-accused Arunachal BJP MLA Lokam Tassar goes into hiding

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

A BJP MLA in Arunachal Pradesh has gone into hiding after a pregnant woman accused him of raping her. Lokam Tassar, who represents the Koloriang constituency, had allegedly raped the 24-year-old woman on July 4 at his residence near Itanagar.

The MLA's plea for anticipatory bail was rejected by a local court on Monday. The district and sessions judge in Yupia rejected the MLA's bail petition after the counsel of the woman had objected to it, suspecting that the accused might "influence and lure the witnesses".

The police said Tassar was absconding and would be arrested soon. "The case is under investigation. We raided his house but did not find him. He is absconding," Papum Pare Superintendent of Police Neelam Rega said on Tuesday.

He said Tassar did not take part in Monday's presidential election. The police had sent a team to the Assembly, hoping the MLA would come and cast his vote.

"It's a very sensitive case. All briefings will be done by the PRO in the police headquarters," the SP said. The PRO, however, could not be reached over the phone.

Earlier, the woman had lodged a complaint with the Itanagar Women's Police Station accusing the MLA of raping her.

Chief Minister Pema Khandu said the BJP would take stern action against Tassar if the charges against him were found to be true. "The law will take its course," he said.

Filmmaker detained over Shah's pic

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

THE Gujarat police detained Mumbai-based filmmaker Avinash Das on Tuesday in a case related to sharing a photograph of Union Home Minister Amit Shah with arrested IAS officer Pooja Singhal on social media.

"We detained Avinash Das from Mumbai on Tuesday. He is being brought to Ahmedabad by our team for the further legal process," Ahmedabad Crime Branch's Assistant Commissioner DP Chudasma said.

The FIR against Das was registered in June after he shared the photograph showing Singhal, who had been arrested by the Enforcement Directorate in a money laundering case, whispering something to Shah.

As per the FIR, in a caption to the photograph, Das had claimed the picture was taken a few days before Singhal's arrest, while it was taken in 2017. The crime branch alleged that it was done with an intention to tarnish Shah's image. Das was also booked for insulting national honour by sharing on his Instagram and Facebook accounts a photo of a woman wearing the national flag.

A sessions court in Ahmedabad in June rejected Das' plea for anticipatory bail, observing that he had deliberately claimed the photograph of Shah with Singhal was taken a few days before the latter's arrest. Later, the Gujarat HC rejected his anticipatory bail plea. The Bombay HC also rejected his transit anticipatory bail plea.

Das has directed the 2017 film Anaarkali of Aarah and Raat Baaki Hai, which was released in 2021.

Buzz of JMM, Congress political realignment

Looking at recent developments in the state, political pundits are speculating that the ruling alliance partners may call for a revamp. JMM and Congress are likely to part ways due to the fresh rift between them following JMM's move to support NDA's presidential candidate Droupadi Murmu. The bonhomie between PM Narendra Modi and CM Hemant Soren was also evident at the inaugural ceremony of Deoghar airport. The brickbats also made way for plaudits with the former refraining from any criticism of the state government while the later praised the Center's cooperation. Notably, all these developments came at a time when Soren and his associates are facing legal trouble, both in the Jharkhand High Court and with the Election Commission of India over the charges of corruption and misuse of power

FIR against Smriti Irani for 'doctored' video

An FIR was registered at a police station in the capital against three BJP bigwigs for an alleged doctored video. Union Minister Smriti Irani, party IT cell national convener Amit Malviya and IT cell member Priti Gandhi were booked on Monday for sharing the 'edited' video that claimed Congress leader Ajoy Kumar (in pic) had insulted NDA presidential candidate Droupadi Murmu. According to state Congress, the complaint seeks to expose the BJP leaders' mala fide intent of projecting the ex-Jamshedpur MP – who is a former IAS officer – as anti-tribal. The video was shared by these BJP leaders' on their Twitter handles. In his words, Ajoy Kumar had said that Droupadi Murmu represents a "very evil philosophy of India" and should not be made a 'symbol of adivasis'. The statement from the leader not only kicked-off a controversy but also gained a sharp reaction from BJP.

SC transfers anti-Agnipath petitions to HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday transferred to the Delhi High Court PILs pending before it challenging the Centre's Agnipath scheme. The court also requested the high court to ensure their 'expeditious disposal'.

During the hearing, one of the petitioners said his plea has a pan-India effect to which the bench said pan-India does not mean the apex court will have to hear everything.

A bench of Justices DY Chandrachud, Surya Kant, and AS Bopanna also asked the High Courts of Kerala, Punjab and Haryana, Patna, and Uttarakhand to transfer the PILs pending before them against the scheme to the Delhi High Court or keep it pending till a decision by it if the petitioners before the high courts so desire. The court said the union of India shall ensure that a copy of this order is placed before the registrar judicial of the concerned high courts.

Agnipath form: JD-U, RJD come together to question caste column

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

BIHAR Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's JD-U and the Opposition, RJD, closed ranks on the issue of caste columns in Agnipath forms, though Defence Minister Rajnath Singh clarified that it was just a rumour as the earlier system existing since pre-Independence era was still in vogue.

JD-U Parliamentary Board chairman Upendra Kushwaha on Tuesday tweeted, "I am surprised why the caste certificate is required during recruitment of Agniveer in defence forces. There is no provision of reservation in the Agnipath scheme, then why are they demanding caste certificates?" He demanded the Centre clarify it.

On the other hand, leader of Opposition in the Bihar Assembly and RJD leader, Tejashwi Yadav, said that the BJP and RSS were instrumental in having caste and religion columns in forms.

Tejashwi tweeted, "Don't ask the caste of a monk but ask the caste of a soldier. The BJP government distances itself from the caste census but asks castes of Agniveers who are ready to make supreme sacrifices for the country."

The RJD leader also shared a screenshot of a notification which made it mandatory for candidates to disclose their caste and religious identities.

The Centre had recently launched the Agnipath scheme for short-term recruitment of personnel in the three wings of the armed forces.

The process of filling up forms for Agniveer aspirants is already underway. The scheme has received a huge response from the youth.

Interim SC protection to Nupur from coercive action

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

SUSPENDED BJP spokesperson Nupur Sharma on Tuesday got interim protection from the Supreme Court against coercive action in connection with multiple FIRs registered against her in several states over her provocative remarks on Prophet Mohammed.

A bench of Justices Surya Kant and J B Pardiwala, which had earlier refused to club the FIRs lodged against Sharma and castigated her for her hate speech, took note of the threats to her life after its July 1 order.

Observing that it never wanted Sharma to visit every court for relief, the bench issued notices to the Centre and various states, including Delhi, West Bengal, and Maharashtra on her plea urging protection from arrest as well as the revival of her withdrawn petition seeking clubbing of FIRs lodged in the states. The court sought responses by August 10, the next date of hearing.

While taking note of the submissions made by senior advocate Maninder Singh, who appeared for Sharma and referred to the threats to her life, the bench said its concern is how to ensure that she can avail of the remedy permitted on July 1.

The bench permitted the petitioner to file an additional affidavit giving specific details of the threats extended to her after filing the application. During the arguments, Singh said that ever since the July 1 order of the court, Sharma received threats to life, adding a person from Pakistan has travelled to India to attack her.

He informed that some extremists arrested in Patna recently revealed that Sharma was their target. "We never wanted you or your family to be put in any kind of danger," the bench said.

THE Enforcement Directorate on Tuesday arrested Jharkhand Chief Minister Hemant Soren's political aide, Pankaj Mishra, in an illegal mining case. He finally appeared before the agency on Tuesday, and was arrested after eight hours of interrogation.

ED is investigating Mishra's role as an alleged prime member of the illegal mining syndicate in Santhal Pargana. According to sources, he was arrested as he was not cooperating and was evading notices issued by ED. Misha is said to be very close to Soren. He is ED's third catch in the ongoing money laundering investigation.

Godda MP and BJP leader Nishikant Dubey, tweeted, "It happened as expected. Finally, ED arrested Pankaj Mishra in illegal mining case. Looks like, the door of corruption will be broken now (Sic)."

8 arrested, NEET racket busted; ₹20 lakh charged for impersonators to write exam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE CBI on Monday busted a NEET cheating racket that helped candidates crack the undergraduate medical entrance exam by sending impersonators to write it on their behalf. Hours after Sunday's exam, the CBI received information that several persons had conspired to arrange paper solvers to impersonate real candidates at various examination centres in Delhi and Haryana. An FIR was registered.

After conducting raids at multiple sites, the agency on Monday arrested eight persons, including the gang's leader Sushil Ranjan and its team of paper solvers. The gang promised aspiring doctors an assured undergraduate medical seat for a sum of ₹20 lakh.

"Aspirants would be asked to pay around ₹20 lakh for getting a secure seat. Out of this, about four to five lakh would be given to the solver and rest was shared between middlemen and others," a bureau source said. "The user IDs and passwords of the candidates were collected by the suspects and their associates. Necessary modifications were made to get the desired examination centres," informed a CBI officer.

"They mixed and morphed photographs to help proxy candidates gain entry to the exam halls. Forged ID cards were made using copies of the originals obtained from the candidates." Even a few doctors are allegedly involved with the cheating and the bureau is probing their roles.

According to sources, the paper solvers reached Delhi on Saturday and Sunday and stayed in some hotels. Apart from Sushil Ranjan, the others arrested have been identified as Brij Mohan Singh, Pappu, Uma Shankar Gupta, Nidhi, Krishna Shankar Yogi, Sunny Ranjan, Raghunandan, Jeepu Lal, Hemendra and Bharat Singh.

Haryana DSP killed by mining mafia

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE strong tentacles of the mining mafia involved in illegal quarrying in the Aravali hills were revealed once again on Monday night, when a Deputy Superintendent of Police (DSP) of Haryana Police was killed during a raid at Pachgaon in Nuh district near Delhi. One of the accused was arrested by the police soon after the incident.

Police sources said Surender Singh, the DSP of Tauru, was killed at around 12am by a dumper driver when he tried to stop the vehicle to check the papers. Singh and his team had conducted a raid on the illegal mining activity going on in the Pachgaon area. Singh, along with his driver and gunman, noticed a suspicious dumper and signalled it to stop, but the driver steered the vehicle in their direction. Singh's driver and gunman jumped aside, but the officer was crushed under the dumper. He was rushed to a hospital where doctors declared him brought dead.

The police have arrested one of the accused, identified as Ikkar, a resident of Panchgaon village, who was a cleaner on the dumper. A team from the crime branch nabbed Ikkar after a brief exchange of fire, during which the accused was shot in the leg. He has been admitted to Nalhar Medical College, Nuh. Efforts are on to arrest the absconding accused, the police said.

The Nuh district is notorious for attacks on policemen by the mining mafia. According to an officer, since 2015, about 50 complaints of illegal mining are being filed every year in Nuh.

Singh was recruited as an assistant sub-inspector in Haryana Police in 1994, and was due to retire in four months. He belonged to Sarangpur village in Hisar, and presently lived with his family in Kurukshetra.

Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar announced a relief sum of Rs 1 crore and a job to one of Singh's family members.

DEEPENING TIES

Vladimir Putin in Tehran for talks with Iran and Turkey

TEHRAN

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin arrived Tuesday in Iran for a visit intended to deepen ties with regional heavyweights as part of Moscow's challenge to the US and Europe.

Putin is scheduled to hold talks with Iran's President Ebrahim Raisi and Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan about the pressing issues facing the region, including the conflict in Syria and a UN-backed proposal to resume exports of Ukrainian grain to ease the global food crisis.

As the West heaps sanctions on Russia, Putin is seeking to bolster ties with Tehran, a fellow target of severe US sanctions and a potential military and trade partner. In recent weeks, Russian officials visited an airfield in central Iran to review Tehran's weapons-capable drones for possible use in Ukraine, the White House has alleged.

The gathering has symbolic meaning for Putin's domestic audience, showing off Russia's international clout even as it grows increasingly isolated and plunges deeper into confrontation with the West.

From Jerusalem and Jeddah, Biden urged Israel and Arab countries to push back on Russian, Chinese and Iranian influence that has expanded with the perception of America's retreat from the region.

The focus of the talks among the three presidents will be the decade-old conflict in Syria. Talks to lift a Russian blockade and get Ukraine's grain into global markets will also be on the agenda. In his fifth visit to Tehran, Putin will meet Iran's Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei. He will also hold talks with President Raisi on issues including Tehran's nuclear deal, of which Russia is a key signatory. AP

Oppn deal done to defeat Ranil in Prez poll today?

SJB to back Alahapperuma as President in quid pro quo for Sajith Premadasa as PM

COLOMBO

THREE candidates were nominated Tuesday to replace former Sri Lankan president Gotabaya Rajapaksa who fled the country and resigned over nation's worsening economic crisis.

The parliament announced that acting President Ranil Wickremesinghe will face former education minister Dullas Alahapperuma, a leader of Sri Lanka's ruling Sri Lanka Podujana Peramuna (SLPP) party who has the backing of the main opposition. The other candidate is a leftist leader Anura Kumara Dissanayake.

Moments earlier, opposition leader Sajith Premadasa announced on Twitter that he was withdrawing from the race in favour of Alahapperuma. "For the greater good of my country that I love and the people I cherish, I hereby withdraw my candidacy for the position of President," Premadasa said. He went onto nominate Alahapperuma, a former journalist and rights campaigner in the late 1980s, when Premadasa's late father Ranasinghe ruled the country.

Political sources said the two had struck a deal overnight for one to be president and the other prime minister and to work to form a unity government to navigate the country's worsening economic crisis.

A majority of members SLPP party were also in favour of nominating Alahapperuma, for the post of the President and principal Opposition leader Sajith Premadasa as the Prime Minister, Chairman of the SLPP, G L Peiris said on Tuesday, ahead of Wednesday's presidential election.

SLPP Chairman Peiris said that the majority of his party was in favour of appointing Alahapperuma as the President, underlining that the people's voice be highlighted in Parliament, according to news portal News First.lk.

Peiris added that the SLPP lawmakers have agreed to appoint Opposition Leader Premadasa, the 55-year-old leader of Sri Lanka's principal opposition party Samagi Jana Balawegaya (SJB) as the Prime Minister.

Peiris said both parties must come together and govern the country and implement a programme to realise the aspirations of the citizens, the report said. Agencies

Sunak tops with 118 votes in latest poll

LONDON

RISHI Sunak topped another round of voting on Tuesday to edge even closer to his place as one of two candidates who will go head-to-head to be elected the new Conservative Party leader and British Prime Minister, as Kemi Badenoch became the latest candidate to be out of the running.

The British Indian former Chancellor received 118 votes in the fourth round of voting by his party colleagues, just shy of the 120-mark or one-third of Conservative Party MPs needed to confirm his place as one of the final contenders in the race to replace Boris Johnson.

He increased his tally from Monday's 115, while Trade Minister Penny Mordaunt got 92 votes and Foreign Secretary Liz Truss 86 votes leaving the race to clinch second place still open.

The elimination of former equalities minister Badenoch with 59 votes will now turn the focus on where her considerable support within the Tory members of Parliament will go, as those MPs are wooed by both Mordaunt and Truss to shore up their chances of grabbing that all-important second spot.

The battle remains poised for the all-important second spot, with all eyes on the candidate who will go head to head with Sunak in the final leg of the race as the former finance minister's lead seems to be crystalising.

After the next few rounds of voting on Tuesday and Wednesday to further whittle down the shortlist further, the final two candidates in the fray will be known by Thursday.

The duo will then hold hustings in different parts of the UK to try and win over the Conservative Party's membership of around 160,000 eligible voters to cast postal ballots in their favour. The winner of that ballot will go on to be elected the new Tory leader and take over from caretaker Boris Johnson as the new British Prime Minister by September 5.

Meanwhile, outgoing UK PM Boris Johnson chaired his final Cabinet meeting on Tuesday. He defended his government's record and commitment to tackling climate change. "Who can doubt that we were right to be the first major economy to go for net zero," he told his ministers at Downing Street. PTI

China warns of strong actions if Nancy Pelosi visits Taiwan

BEIJING

CHINA will take resolute and strong measures should the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives Nancy Pelosi proceed with reported plans to visit Taiwan, the Chinese Foreign Ministry said Tuesday.

Pelosi, who is second in line to the presidency, is due to visit the self-governing island China claims as its own territory in August, according to a report in the Financial Times.

Pelosi would be the highest ranking American lawmaker to visit the close US ally since her predecessor as speaker, Newt Gingrich, traveled there 25 years ago.

China has vowed to annex Taiwan by force if necessary, and has advertised that threat by flying warplanes near Taiwanese airspace and holding military exercises based on invasion scenarios.

It says those actions are aimed at deterring advocates of the island's formal independence and foreign allies—principally the US from coming to its aid, more than 70 years after the sides split amid civil war.

A visit by Pelosi would "severely undermine China's sovereignty and territorial integrity, gravely impact the foundation of China-US relations and send a seriously wrong signal to Taiwan independence forces," Foreign Ministry spokesperson Zhao Lijiang said during a daily briefing.

"If the US were to insist on going down the wrong path, China will take resolute and strong measures to safeguard its sovereignty and territorial integrity," Zhao said. AP

THAILAND

No-confidence debate to begin against PM

Thai lawmakers on Tuesday began a no-confidence debate targeting Prime Minister Prayuth Chan-ocha and 10 of his Cabinet members, with the opposition accusing them of corruption as well as economic mismanagement. This is likely the last no-confidence vote that Prayuth's government faces before its four-year term ends next year. The debate is scheduled for four days, with the lower house to vote on Saturday. Analysts said Prayuth, who has survived three earlier no-confidence votes, is expected to prevail again as his coalition government has a parliamentary majority. Kicking off the debate, the opposition Pheu Thai leader Cholanan Srikaew blamed the government's mismanagement for broadening the gap between rich and poor, and leading Thailand to take a step backward economically

Scores rescued, 13 missing after ferry sinks

Scores of people were rescued after a ferry sank due to bad weather off the coast of an Indonesian island but 13 others remain missing, a search and rescue official said Tuesday. The KM Cahaya Arafah, which carried 77 passengers and crew on board, capsized in waters off Indonesia's Ternate island on Monday evening, as it was sailing to nearby Halmahera island. Local villagers sailed out in their longboats to help authorities in a vessel with the search-and-rescue operation. "64 survivors were evacuated to Tokaka village (near the site of the accident) after villagers found them swimming to the shore," said Fathur Rahman, head of the local search and rescue agency. Marine accidents are common in Indonesia, a Southeast Asian archipelago of around 17,000 islands, where people rely on ferries to travel despite poor safety standards

ITALY IS USED TO CRISES, BUT THIS ONE IS TOUGH

Italy has seen dozens of governments since the end of World War II, so it's very accustomed to political crises. But the tumult now roiling its political parties is playing out differently as Premier Mario Draghi's future as the nation's leader hangs in the balance. Draghi's offered to resign after a coalition partner, the populist 5-Star Movement, boycotted an important Senate vote

AN UNUSUAL COALITION

President Sergio Mattarella tapped Draghi to form a national unity government in February 2021 to help revive Italy's pandemic-battered economy

Draghi took the helm of the premiership from Giuseppe Conte, the 5-Star leader who chafed at losing his post as he struggled to get Italy's Covid-19 vaccination programme running smoothly

Draghi leads an unusual coalition, of often-squabbling rivals, including parties on the right, center and left, as well as the 5-Stars

THE SHOWDOWN

Mattarella has invited Draghi to go before Parliament to explain why he wants to resign

While other coalition parties are expected to press Draghi to stay, the 5-Stars, have been spatting over what to do. Draghi has said he won't govern without the populists in his coalition

VOICE OF EUROPE

The crisis comes at a particularly crucial time—for Italy and Europe. High inflation and skyrocketing energy costs are punishing consumers and industry

Draghi has positioned himself as one of the loyal backers of military and other aid from Europe for Ukraine, as that country defends itself from the war

With political crisis in Britain and France, and the absence of longtime German leader Angela Merkel, Draghi has established himself as a reliable voice of Europe

IF DRAGHI EXITS, WHAT'S NEXT?

The outcome of debate in the legislature on Wednesday will help determine if Draghi will stay in office

If he resigns, Mattarella could ask someone else to try to form a government, but Draghi's is already the third government since the election of Parliament, in 2018

More likely, the president will dissolve Parliament, triggering early elections as soon as late September

Such a move would likely be in the interests of the far-right, EU-skeptic Brothers of Italy, which opinion polls indicate could be the top vote-getter, propelling its leader Giorgia Meloni into the premier's office

Japan hopes South Korea will take steps to resolve wartime disputes

TOKYO

JAPAN'S foreign minister said Tuesday he expects South Korea to take appropriate steps toward resolving the countries wartime disputes, warning that a mishandling especially of the issue of forced Korean laborers would cause grave consequences for their bilateral ties.

Yoshimasa Hayashi hosted his South Korean counterpart Park Jin on Monday and both reaffirmed the importance of resolving the disputes and improving their ties and the three-way relations with the United States amid growing tensions with China and North Korea and the war in Ukraine.

Relations between Tokyo and Seoul have been at their worst in years, causing concern about security cooperation in East Asia. US President Joe Biden has called for improved ties between its two Asian allies.

Hayashi on Tuesday quoted Park as saying that his country would seek a resolution of the dispute before the sale of the two Japanese companies assets in South Korea. The countries foreign ministries also acknowledged the same remarks in their releases Monday night.

Hayashi said Japan will watch closely how President Yoon Suk Yeol's government responds to the issue while communicating closely with the South Korean side in order to put their ties back to a healthy state. South Korea's Foreign Ministry said in a statement that Park also conveyed to Kishida Yoon's message of his resolve to improve ties and that Kishida expressed his gratitude. The ministry cited Park as telling Kishida that he hopes the two leaders would meet at a mutually convenient time. AP

Vatican revamps investment policy amid financial scandal

ROME

THE Vatican has centralised and overhauled its investment strategy after a botched deal lost tens of millions of euros, imposing a policy that prohibits investments in products like pornography and weapons and prioritizes investing in firms that promote common good.

The new policy announced Tuesday by the Secretariat for the Economy bans speculative investments, short selling and investing in highly leveraged or complex financial products or in countries vulnerable to money laundering and terrorist financing.

Vatican offices have one year to come up with a divestment strategy if any of their investments fall under prohibited categories.

The policy follows a decade of efforts, first by Pope Benedict XVI and then Pope Francis, to try to clean up the Vatican's murky finances and its reputation as an off-shore tax haven with little or no expertise, oversight or accountability guiding investment decisions.

The Vatican's less-than-professional financial practices attracted a broader spotlight when Vatican prosecutors in 2019 launched an investigation into the secretariat of state's 350 million-euro investment in a London property, which lost the Holy See tens of millions in fees and commissions to brokers and other losses. Ten people, including a cardinal, Italian brokers and former Vatican officials, have been on trial for a year on a range of alleged financial crimes.

At one point, as per the court documents, the Vatican considered investing 200 million euros in an Angola oil extraction deal. A decision was made against it and the money went toward converting a former warehouse of luxury department store into a luxury residential property.

Even before the new policy was announced, Francis had stripped the secretariat of state of its ability to manage its own money and ordered the assets transferred to the Administration of the Patrimony of the Apostolic See. AP

Bangladesh rolls out power curbs as fuel price hike slams economy

DHAKA

BANGLADESH rolled out energy restrictions and shut down power plants Tuesday as a spike in global fuel prices slammed the South Asian economy.

Power ministry spokesman Aslam Uddin said international fuel prices had surged since Ukraine's invasion, prompting Bangladesh to shut down diesel-powered plants and keep some gas-fired power factories idle. Bangladesh has also ordered scheduled blackouts of up to two hours daily and a shutdown of shops after 8 pm, officials said.

"Electricity connections to shops and malls will be cut if they violate the order," Uddin said. Tawfiq-e-Elahi Chowdhury, the prime minister's energy adviser, on Monday urged people to save power and said officials may start carpooling, shortening office hours and holding meetings online.

Former senior IMF official Ahsan H Mansur said power rationing was not the right solution to the economic problem, which has been worsened by the sliding value of the taka against the dollar.

The main opposition Bangladesh Nationalist Party said the power rations show that the nation is in the grip of an economic crisis and blamed government spending. AFP

Asked PT Bara Daya Energy to supply the indented quantity

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

COAL INDIA has cancelled its short-term tender for which Adani Enterprises emerged the lowest bidder, and likely to source coal from Indonesia-based consortium, which according to sources is offering the fuel at ₹2,000 lower price.

Sources say the largest coal producer in its board meeting decided to cancel the short-term tender of 2.416 million tonnes (MT) and asked PT Bara Daya Energy to supply the indented quantity against the medium-term tender. "The rate at which CIL is getting coal from the medium-term tender is much lower than the price quoted in the short-term tender, thus the latter is being cancelled," said a government official. "Moreover, as per the bid document, we can enhance our coal requirement up to 100% in medium-term tender. It means, we can ask PT Bara Daya Energy, the Indonesia-based-consortium to supply up to 12 MT," he added.

As the country was facing coal shortage, CIL had floated its maiden tender to import 2.416 MT from abroad on behalf of power producers to stock up coal. On June 10, again CIL floated two medium-term tenders for sourcing 6 MT of additional coal from overseas to supply to power plants. As per the industry source, Gautam Adani-led-Adani Enterprises quoted about ₹17,000-plus per tonne for importing 2.416 MT of coal for the short-term tender. The company emerged as the lowest bidder but the contract had not been awarded. While, for the mid terms tender to supply 7.91 lakh tonnes of imported coal, CIL awarded the contract to PT Bara Daya Energy (consortium).

"The Indonesia-based consortium has quoted ₹2,000 per tonne less than the rate quoted by the Adani group firm. Therefore, in the meeting, we evaluated everything and decided to cancel the short-term tender."

"We have learned that CIL has cancelled the short-term coal import tender, where Adani Enterprises was the lowest bidder. Cancellation of this tender is the prerogative of CIL." said an Adani Group spokesperson.

U.S. TO DISCUSS WITH SEOUL PRICE CAP ON RUSSIAN OIL

Washington will discuss with South Korea measures to limit revenues flowing to Russia, such as a price cap on its oil, while the allies work to curb North Korea's nuclear and missile programs, U.S. Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen said on Tuesday. In a speech prepared for a meeting with South Korean counterpart Choo Kyung-ho, Yellen said the two would explore a price cap to reduce oil earnings and other ways of holding Russia accountable for its war against Ukraine. "Russia's illegal war and the global energy shock that has followed have underscored the need to protect ourselves from dependence on foreign oil that makes us vulnerable to the whims of authoritarians like Vladimir Putin," Yellen said. She is to meet Choo in the South Korean capital, during a three-stop tour of East Asia. The two leaders have said they will also discuss economic security and supply chain issues, as the Ukraine conflict, which Moscow calls a "special military operation", and disruptions in global supplies have driven up inflation worldwide. Concern is growing that North Korea could be preparing to test a nuclear weapon for the first time since 2017

PAKISTAN

FITCH DOWNGRADES PAKISTAN'S OUTLOOK TO NEGATIVE

Ratings agency Fitch has revised Pakistan's outlook from 'stable' to 'negative', citing several reasons for the downgrade, including adjustment risks, financing, political risks and declining reserves. In a report issued on Monday, the New York-based agency affirmed Pakistan's Long-Term Foreign-Currency (LTFC) Issuer Default Rating (IDR) at 'B-'. Fitch noted a "significant deterioration" in Pakistan's external liquidity position and financing conditions since the start of the year. While the agency assumed the IMF executive board would approve the staff-level agreement with Pakistan reached earlier this month, it saw "considerable risks" to implementation. The agency also saw risks to continued access to financing after the expiry of the extended funded facility (EFF) supported programme in June next year amid a "tough political and economic climate". Fitch referred to former prime minister Imran Khan's ouster through a no-confidence vote in April and his demand for early elections.

CHINA

CHINA RAISES LOAN SUPPORT EFFORTS FOR DEVELOPERS

Chinese regulators stepped up efforts to encourage lenders to extend loans to qualified realty projects as the beleaguered property sector faced fresh risks from a widening mortgage-payment boycott on unfinished houses. The China Banking and Insurance Regulatory Commission (CBIRC) told the official industry newspaper on Sunday that banks should meet developers' financing needs where reasonable. The CBIRC expressed confidence that with concerted efforts, "all the difficulties and problems will be solved," the China Banking and Insurance News reported. The remarks come as a growing number of homebuyers across China threatened to stop making their mortgage payments for stalled property projects, aggravating a real estate crisis that has already hit the economy. The latest news helped banking and property stocks recover some of their recent losses. China's banking index, which tumbled 7 per cent to a more than two-year low last week, bounced 1.4 per cent on Monday. Chinese real estate stocks gained 3.1 per cent on the mainland, and jumped 3.7 per cent in Hong Kong. The rebound in Chinese banking stocks was also aided by news that China will accelerate the issuance of special local government bonds to help supplement the capital of small banks, part of efforts to reduce risks in the sector.

GST on pre-packed food items imposed after consensus: FM

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

Tax imposed to prevent misuse: FM

Tax was imposed to prevent misuse of the earlier provision, as per which only those items were taxed that were sold under registered brand or brand on which enforceable right was not foregone by supplier, says FM

AFTER a hue and cry over imposition of GST on pre-packed and labeled food items, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Tuesday said the decision was taken only after a consensus on the matter among states including non-BJP ones.

In a series of tweets, she stated that the tax was imposed in order to prevent misuse of the earlier provision, as per which only those items were taxed that were sold under registered brand or brand on which enforceable right was not foregone by the supplier.

"...a rampant misuse of this provision was observed by reputed manufacturers and brand owners and gradually GST revenue from these items fell significantly. This was resented by suppliers and industry associations who were paying taxes on branded goods. They wrote to the government to impose GST uniformly on all packaged commodities to stop such misuse. This rampant evasion in tax was also observed by states," Sitharaman said.

The Fitment Committee consisting of officers from Rajasthan, West Bengal, Tamil Nadu, Bihar, Uttar Pradesh, Karnataka, Maharashtra, Haryana and Gujarat had also examined this issue over several meetings and made its recommendations for changing the modalities to curb misuse, the minister said. "All states including non-BJP ones – Punjab, Chhattisgarh, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, Kerala agreed with the decision. This decision of the GST Council is yet again with the consensus," Sitharaman further said, adding that the Group of Ministers (GoM) which recommended the changes comprised members from non-BJP states.

The minister also clarified that this is not the first time such taxes are imposed on such food articles. States were collecting significant revenue from food grain in the pre-GST regime."Taking this into account, when GST was rolled out, a GST rate of 5% was made applicable on branded cereals, pulses, and flour. Later this was amended to tax only such items which were sold under registered brand or brand on which enforceable right was not foregone by the supplier," Sitharaman stated.

5% GST on hospital rooms a blow to affordable healthcare

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE 5% GST rate on non-ICU hospital rooms with rental value above ₹5,000 per day would lead to inflation and would increase the cost for patients, as per healthcare industry.

They say it will defeat the government's objective of providing affordable healthcare services to all. The tax imposition of 5% is also without the input tax credit, which has been heavily criticized by the industry. The decision of levying GST on such rooms was taken by the government last month during 47th GST Council meet in Chandigarh.

"The decision to impose a 5% GST on hospital room rent above ₹5,000 per day (excluding ICU) would add to inflationary pressure to some extent and increase the burden. If there is a GST on room rent then tax credit should be allowed for the hospital sector," said Dr Shankar Narang, COO Paras Healthcare. "As GST is not payable on healthcare services, service providers are not eligible to avail credit on the input taxes paid by it, which ultimately becomes a cost for the service provider," Narang added.

GST on hospital room

It will defeat the govt's objective of providing affordable healthcare services to all. The tax imposition of 5% is also without the input tax credit, which has been heavily criticized by the industry

Dr. Aashish Chaudhry, managing director at Aakash Healthcare, Dwarka, also echoed the same observation. He said the general public will be adversely affected by the imposition of 5% GST without an input tax credit.

"I think to make healthcare accessible and inexpensive for the last man standing, it should receive the most subsidies and GST exemptions. With this tax, hospital expenses would rise, and many patients might face difficulties," stated Dr. Chaudhry. According to a study by EY for healthcare industry body NATHEALTH, the sector carries an embedded tax above 6% of the annual turnover. This is also one of the few sectors where the embedded tax burden post-GST period is higher than pre-GST times on account of limited pass through available to the imports under the earlier State VAT regime.

GST RATE

Industry divided over 12% tax on hotel room tariff up to ₹1K

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HOTEL industry is divided over GST Council's decision to levy 12% tax on room tariff of ₹1,000 or less.

While the Hotel Association of India (HAI) said this move gives a "wrong signal", Federation of Hotel and Restaurant Associations of India (FHRAI), said this should help the government to bring down the 18% GST rate slab on rooms that have tariff over ₹7,500/day under the 12% slab.

"The recent announcement of levying a GST of 12% on hotels where the tariff is below ₹1,000 per day gives a wrong signal that the industry continues to be vulnerable to the burden of levies in spite of its significant contribution to the nation's GDP and jobs" said HAI, the apex body of the Indian hospitality sector.

It added that the increase may also adversely affect the recent efforts of the government to encourage domestic travel under promotions like "Dekho Apna Desh". Not to mention the fact that in most other Asian destinations that compete with India for the global traveller, the taxation level on hotels in any category ranges from 0 to 10 %.

Amul increases price of buttermilk, curd, lassi after imposition 5% GST

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

WITH the GST Council's decision to impose 5% GST on packaged curd, lassi, buttermilk to foodgrains coming into force, India's largest dairy Amul has raised prices of some of the products in these categories by ₹1-4 with effect from July 19.

According to RS Sodhi, managing director of Gujarat Cooperative Milk Marketing Federation (GCMMF), which owns the Amul brand, the price of 400 gm pouch of curd will increase from ₹30 to ₹32 and for 1 kg pouch of curd from ₹65 to ₹69; 200 gm cup of curd will see a ₹1 price increase and will cost from earlier ₹20 to ₹21 now; 400 gm cup of curd will now be priced ₹42 as compared to the earlier ₹40.

AMUL PRODUCT PRICE CHANGES

	Old price	Revised price
400 gm pouch of curd	₹30	₹32
1 kg pouch of curd from	₹65	₹69
200 gm cup of curd	₹20	₹21
400 gm cup of curd	₹40	₹42
Buttermilk (500 ml pouch)	₹15	₹16
Lassi (170 ml pouch)	₹10	₹11

At the same time, the price of buttermilk (500 ml pouch) has been increased from ₹15 to ₹16 and the price of lassi (170 ml pouch) has gone up ₹1 and will now cost ₹11 from earlier ₹10.

The price of 200 ml cup of lassi, 85 gm cup of plain curd, 85 gm of Mishti doi remain unchanged. Other dairies are also expected to increase the prices of these items. The effective impact of the likely GST levy will be 2-3% on the financials of dairy companies, a note by ICICI securities released earlier had noted. "We model most dairy companies to pass on the impact via price hikes," it had said. Curd and lassi account for 15-25% of revenues of dairy companies under our coverage, according to the brokerage firm, which remained positive on the sector's growth prospects despite the tax changes.

Jio adds 3.11 mn users, Airtel 1.02 mn in May, VIL loses

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S largest telecom operator Reliance Jio added maximum new subscribers at 3.11 million, while Bharti Airtel added 1.02 million users in May , according to the latest report of Trai.

However, the debt-laden Vodafone Idea continued to lose subscribers, losing 0.7 million subscribers, its subscriber base left only 258.45 million. Bharat Sanchar Nigam Ltd (BSNL) lost 5.36 lakh wireless subscribers in the month, while the customer loss for Mahanagar Telephone Nigam Ltd (MTNL) stood at 2,665. "Urban telephone subscriptions increased from 646.99 million at the end of April-22 to 647.81 million at the end of May-22 and the rural subscription also increased from 520.82 million to 522.92 million during the same period," TRAI said.

In terms of active users, Bharti Airtel with 354 million active users (or 97.9% of its overall user base) is on the top spot while Reliance Jio, with 383 million users (93.7% of its overall wireless base) is on the second spot. As of May 31, 2022, the private operators held 89.9% market share in the wireless space, whereas state-owned telecom operators BSNL and MTNL had a market share of only about 10%.

Rupee falls below ₹80 mark for first time against USD

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

Rupee fell below 80 a dollar mark for the first time in the spot market as it touched 80.05 in the early trade on Tuesday. The local currency ended the day at 79.92.

Analysts believe that with dollar strengthening ahead of the US Fed Reserve's policy statement next week, rupee saw selling in the early trade leading to the local currency falling below the 80 a dollar-mark.

"Expectation is that the Fed could raise rates by another 75bps and maintain a hawkish stance. On the domestic front, trade deficit continued to widen and that also is weighing on the rupee, Somaiya, Forex & Bullion Analyst, Motilal Oswal Financial Services

However, it gained later in the day due to buying from foreign institutional investors, who on Tuesday were net buyers of ₹976 crore of Indian equities and debts.

5G spectrum bid suggests Adani not keen to enter consumer mobility space

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

FOLLOWING the release of details around the fifth generation spectrum auction to be held next week, analysts are of the view that Adani Group is not so keen on entering the consumer mobility space.

According to the analysts, its earnest money deposit (EMD) of ₹100 crore is only suitable to acquire spectrum for specific use (private network) but not enough to enter the consumer mobility space.

"It is evident that Adani group is not so keen on entering the consumer mobility space. EMD of ₹100 crore is suitable to acquire limited spectrum for specific use but not enough to enter the consumer segment. At this stage, spectrum acquired through upcoming auctions is likely to be utilised for setting up private networks," said Charu Paliwal, research analyst at Counterpoint Research. Reliance Jio Infocomm (RJIO) has submitted EMD of ₹14,000, while Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea (Vi) have submitted ₹5,500 crore and Rs 2200 crore, respectively, for the upcoming 5G auction. Surprisingly, Adani Data Networks, the Adani group company sparked speculation in the sector about its entry into the consumer mobility space, has put in just ₹100 crore. "Consumer mobility is a competitive space in the Indian telecom market and it is a capital intensive business with low returns. ARPU (average revenue per user) of the leading operators is still below ₹180, therefore, it does not appear as a lucrative business opportunity," added Paliwal.

EMD numbers reveal a player's appetite, strategy and plan for purchasing spectrum during an auction. "This is very clear that Adani has no interest in entering the consumer mobility market as we expected. With an EMD of ₹100 crore, Adani is aimed at limited quantities of spectrum in distinct circles of operations," said Tapse. The government expects to mop up nearly ₹70,000 to ₹10,0000 crore from this auction.

Ambuja Cement net profi falls 25.46% to ₹865.44

NewDelhi: Cement major Ambuja Cements reported a 25.46% decline in consolidated net profit at Rs 865.44 crore for the June 2022 quarter (Q1FY23) due to rising fuel prices and related inflationary impacts.The company had reported a net profit of Rs 1,161.16 crore in the year-ago quarter. Ambuja's revenue from operations grew by 15.11% to Rs 8,032.88 crore in Q1FY23 as compared to Rs 6,978.24 crore in Q1FY22. Neeraj Akhoury, CEO, Holcim India, and Managing Director & Chief Executive Officer, Ambuja Cements, said: "Ambuja has recorded robust volume growth of 15 per cent, and top line growth of 18 per cent" in the quarter. However, "the April to June 2022 quarter was impacted by rising fuel prices and related inflationary impacts," he said, adding, this was partly mitigated by improved efficiencies. ENS

Investment firms bet on early-stage start-ups

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

Last month, Axilor Ventures announced its plan to launch a ₹770 crore second fund to back early-stage start-ups. This is almost four times the size of the first fund. "At the seed stage, it is important that a start-up receives the right kind of support, coaching and partnership in order to nurture their growth," said Mohamad Faraz, Founding Partner, Upsparks. A Micro VC firm Upsparks has seed-funded over 60 companies with main focus on SaaS, fintech, B2B, Climate/Clean tech and Web 3.0, among others. Postponed Asian Games to be held in Sept-Oct 2023

China will host the 2022 Asian Games in autumn 2023, organisers said on Tuesday, after postponing the event in Hangzhou because of Covid-19. The event will now be held in Hangzhou from September 23 to October 8 2023, the Olympic Council of Asia (OCA) said.

NAURU-LOGY OF CHESS

After first Covid wave, the tiny South Pacific island struggles to assemble players before Olympiad

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

FOR a tiny island tucked away in one of the remotest corners of the world — just south of the equator and roughly 3200km Northeast of Australia — Nauru's place in history is pretty secure. Because of its population (10,873, 2021 figure) and size (smallest island nation, eight sq. mi.), the country finds its way in many pub quizzes. When Novak Djokovic was held in hotel detention in Australia early this year, the country's existing border relations with Nauru received another round of criticism. There is also the existential angst posed by climate change.

More recently, Nauru has been in the news because of Covid-19. While most other countries across the world have learned to live with the virus, Nauru's residents were waking up to their first wave in June 2022. At one point of time in late June, roughly 20 per cent of Nauru's population were positive. After not having any community transmission for nearly two years, there was one positive case for every three tests (the case fatality rate, thankfully, has been marginal as more than 98 per cent of the residents are fully vaxxed).

Among the infected was Ricko Depaune. When the government announced a lockdown to stall the virus' march, Depaune was convinced their chess team would not make it to Chennai for the Olympiad. Depaune, who will be on the main board in Chennai, also doubles up as the general secretary of the Nauru Chess Federation (NCF). He has spent his last few weeks dividing his time between practicing his endgame online and contacting sponsors to secure funding (FIDE, the world body, have chipped in with a portion) for the trip.

"When the lockdown commenced, I thought we wouldn't make it to Chennai," he says over a Zoom call. "But the government helped us. Securing a visa to Australia is quite hard but we have got it. Now, I'm starting to contact all the companies in the Island for the purposes of sponsorship. It was already agreed upon but because of the lockdown, it was postponed."

The challenges of pursuing chess in an island like Nauru is too many. For one, because there is no money in the game, there is 'no motivation'. "The entire Island has about 15 boards," Depaune says. "There are about 30-40 players in total. There is a lack of motivation to play, work commitments, family commitments. The enthusiasm is there (to play) but there needs a push. They lack confidence."

It also isn't all that popular. Weightlifting (the country is a Commonwealth powerhouse in this field) and Australian football gets all the attention. "Here, weightlifting is the gold standard. Chess people play for free and most of us are family oriented. So we put our family first. Chess is a second option. Guys who used to do security work play chess in their free time. The ones who actually play chess in Nauru manage their time well."

There are no full-time chess players in the Island. Depaune, for example, is an environmental officer at a school.

BAKKALI'S TRADEMARK KICK STEALS STEEPLECHASE

One of the quickest women's 1500m finals in history and the slowest men's 3000m steeplechase in the history of the Worlds made all the news on Monday. A look...

SABLE DISAPPOINTS IN SLOW RACE

Morocco's Soufiane El Bakkali was the big beneficiary as his devastating finishing kick meant he won the slowest men's steeplechase final ever. In what was a highly tactical battle, all of them preferred to play the waiting game. Bakkali, owner of one of the best kicks in modern athletics, came into his own in the last lap burning the rest of the pack. From an Indian perspective, this affected Avinash Sable, who finished 11th with a time of 8:31.75, well outside his personal best of 8:12.48. With nobody willing to set the pace, it became very cagey for the first six-and-a-bit laps.

- Bakkali 8:25.13
- Girma 8:26.01
- Kipruto 8:27.92

BARSHIM SOARS AGAIN

One of Asia's greatest field superstars, Mutaz Essa Barshim, once again underlined his credentials with an ice-cold display to win the men's high jump. Even as his rivals stuttered and stumbled, the Qatari kept clearing every height at the first time of asking. End result? Three-time world champion.

- Barshim 2.37m
- Woo 2.35
- Protsenko 2.33

KIPYEGON WINS SPEEDY BATTLE

This final was a glorious antidote to the steeplechase event. Three of the leading queens of middle-distance running, led by Faith Kipyegon, hit the front at the gun and burned up the rest of the field by the first lap itself. While Gudaf Tsegay and Laura Muir tried their damnedest to rein the Kenyan, Kipyegon had this sewn up right about when she took the bell.

- Kipyegon 3:52.96
- Tsegay 3:54.52
- Muir 3:55.28

Asiad to clash with wrestling Worlds

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

THE postponement of the 2022 Asian Games in May was a big relief for the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) but the announcement of new dates Tuesday once again posed a similar problem before it. The Asiad, as per the new schedule, will be clashing with the World Championships as was the case when it was scheduled to be held from September 10-25 this year.

As per the announcement made by the Olympic Council of Asia (OCA), the showpiece continental event will be held from September 23 to October 8 next year. "The Task Force over the last two months held various discussions with the Chinese Olympic Committee, Hangzhou Asian Games Organising Committee (HAGOC) and other stakeholders to find a window for the Games which did not conflict with other major international sporting events," the OCA said in a statement. "The recommended dates by the Task Force were duly approved by the OCA EB," the statement added.

According to the United World Wrestling (UWW) calendar, the Worlds is scheduled from September 16 to 24 next year in Krasnoyarsk, Russia. "The problem has resurfaced and we will inform the world body (UWW) of the issue and request it to take up the matter with the authorities concerned at the OCA. The event (Worlds) is more than a year away and there is always a chance of rescheduling it," Vinod Tomar, WFI assistant secretary, told this daily.

Earlier in April this year, the WFI along with many Asian countries had decided to send second-choice teams for the Worlds as the tournament was clashing with the Asiad. As far as the WFI was concerned, it decided to select two teams giving priority to the 2022 Commonwealth and Asian Games. The gold medallists from the selection trials would have represented the country at the 2022 CWG and Asiad while the silver medallists would have competed at the Worlds had the Hangzhou event not been deferred.

However, this year the problem will be bigger as Worlds will also serve as a qualifier for the 2024 Olympics. Given the situation, the federation cannot send a second-string team to the event. As things stand, there is a great possibility of the UWW rescheduling the Worlds to ensure Asian countries send their strongest possible teams for the event.

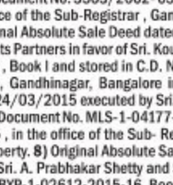
'We are not cars, you can't just fill us up and we'll go out there'

AFP @Durham

BEN Stokes said on Tuesday he hopes his retirement from one-day internationals will serve as a warning to cricket chiefs over an increasingly congested global schedule, with the all-rounder insisting players "are not cars, you can't just fill us up". Stokes was a central figure in England's 2019 World Cup final triumph, their greatest moment in 50-over cricket.



But Stokes is making his 105th and final ODI appearance against South Africa on Tuesday — a match taking place at his Durham home ground. Stokes announced his ODI retirement on Monday with a notably pointed comment that England's current fixture schedule was "unsustainable" and that he could no longer give of his best in all three international formats.

Stokes during a pre-match interview where he warned other players could follow his example.

"The more cricket that is played, the better for the sport, but you want a product that is of the highest quality," he told BBC's Test Match Special.

"You want the best players to be playing as much as you possibly can, all the time. It isn't just me or us, you see it all around the world now where teams are having to rest some players in a certain series so they feel like they are getting a break. We are not cars, you can't just fill us up and we'll go out there and be ready to be fuelled up again."

UK breaches 40°C for first time ever

CLIMATE

LONDON: A fierce heatwave left western Europe sweltering on Tuesday, fuelling ferocious wildfires and stretching emergency services, as it swept north and pushed temperatures in Britain over 40 degrees Celsius for the first time.

After the UK's warmest night on record, the Met Office said 40.2°C had been provisionally recorded by lunchtime at Heathrow Airport, in west London, taking the country into uncharted territory.

Britain's previous all-time temperature record of 38.7°C, set in Cambridge in eastern England in 2019, had already been smashed earlier on Tuesday. "For the first time ever, 40 degree Celsius has provisionally been exceeded in the UK," the Met Office meteorological agency said, warning "temperatures are still climbing in many places". Experts blame climate change for the latest heatwave and note the more frequent extreme weather will only worsen in years to come.

The high temperatures have triggered an unprecedented red alert for extreme heat in much of England, where some rail lines were closed as a precaution and schools shuttered in some areas.

All trains were cancelled from London's usually busy Kings Cross station, leaving many travellers stranded."It's a little frustrating," said American tourist Deborah Byrne, trying to reach Scotland.

But with road surfaces and runways melting and rails buckling, Transport Secretary Grant Shapps conceded much of Britain's infrastructure "is just not built for this temperature". Tim Wainwright, chief executive of the charity WaterAid, said the situation should be "the wake-up call the world needs to stop climate change from claiming any more lives". In France, the country's west registered their highest-ever temperatures on Monday.

Oct trial set in Musk, Twitter buyout battle

Tech giant wants a judge to force Tesla CEO to finish the purchase

TECH

WASHINGTON: Twitter and Elon Musk were ordered Tuesday to trial in October over whether the Tesla chief can be forced to complete his $44 billion deal to buy the social network, an early win for the uncertainty-wracked platform.

A judge in the eastern US state of Delaware ruled against Musk's push for a February date, while hewing closely to Twitter's desire for an expedited schedule.

Billions of dollars are at stake, but so is the future of the platform that Musk has said should allow any legal speech, an absolutist position that has sparked fears the network could be used to incite violence.

"We urge the court to enter a prompt schedule and give multiple grounds for that," Twitter lawyer William Savitt argued, noting "the continued uncertainty caused by Musk's purported termination inflicts harm on Twitter every day, every hour of every day."

Musk's team had argued fiercely against an expedited trial date, saying Twitter's preferred date in September was simple too fast for such a complex matter.

The judge did not set an exact date, leaving it to the parties to converge on the timing.

Twitter lawyers noted the deal is supposed to close toward the end of October, just six months after Musk launched an unsolicited bid that the company's board first resisted but then supported. Musk has backed away from the deal in recent months as tech stocks have tumbled. Rather than Silicon Valley, where Twitter is based, the company has lodged its lawsuit against Musk in Delaware.

The firm is incorporated in the tiny state like scores of other companies, and the case will be heard in the Delaware Chancery Court, which has deep experience in business disputes.

"The Chancery Court, which handles most of these matters, is very expert in corporate law, and more particularly, mergers and acquisitions. So this is the place to go," said Carl Tobias, a University of Richmond law professor. Kathaleen McCormick, the judge overseeing the case, comes with a no-nonsense reputation. She also reportedly has the distinction of previously ordering a reluctant buyer into completing a corporate merger. A forced closing of the Twitter deal is a scenario that some analysts consider possible. "(Wall) Street and legal experts across the board view Twitter as having a 'strong iron fist upper hand,' heading into the Delaware court battle after months of this fiasco and nightmare," analyst Dan Ives wrote last week

From debris of Ukraine, healing song of kids

CULTURE

BORODIANKA: Music teacher Oksana Shevchenko sits near a small pile of twisted metal and cement, the only break in a flat expanse of desolate, empty terrain.

It is all that is left of the music school where she worked for 30 years, pulverised when the Russian army took over her home town of Borodianka, an hour's drive northwest of Ukraine's capital, Kyiv.

"Look, just burned down wasteland," the 53-year-old says, visibly angry.

"Soil and nothing else in this place of culture, where children used to study... This is the extermination of culture and Ukrainians by Russian occupiers."

Borodianka, a town of 14,000 before the February 24 invasion, is the most battered of the towns encircling Kyiv, bearing the profound scars of Moscow's failed attempt to take the Ukrainian capital. Its main street is a shocking testament to the devastation visited upon its people, with buildings reduced to rubble almost every step of the way.

According to town hall officials, 12 apartment blocks were levelled and 24 damaged. More than 400 houses were hit.

With every administrative building destroyed by war, institutions like the police, prosecutor's office, post office and mayoralty are now forced to share one building—a school that escaped the onslaught.

Shevchenko holds her music lessons here too, for the children who returned after Borodianka was wrested back from Russian occupation on April 1. "We find each other and create. And it was painful when it was taken from us," says Shevchenko, now in a small classroom.

Veteran badminton player U Vimal Kumar applauds PV Sindhu's recent Singapore Open title win and speaks to CE about the Indian badminton scene

MONIKA MONALISA

PV Sindhu bagged the Singapore Open title recently, making not just the badminton fraternity, but the whole country proud. One of her cheerleaders is former chief national coach of India and veteran badminton player, U Vimal Kumar. Dissecting her win, Kumar says it was important for her, since it will positively impact her confidence, and simultaneously her forthcoming games, including the World Championships in Tokyo. "She has been playing tournaments but hasn't had many wins over Tai Tzu-ying or Chen Yu Fei," says Kumar about Sindhu, who was recently in Bengaluru.

It has been a good year for India, with the country witnessing its first Thomas Cup win, and Kumar is extremely emotional about it, especially so since he was the manager of the victorious Indian team. "My first experience in the Thomas Cup was in 1982, which was miserable. After 40 years, we were able to beat all these guys and win the Cup. I felt fortunate that I could be part of the winning team. This is the best moment of my badminton life," exclaims the Dronacharya awardee.

Recalling his first Thomas Cup experience, Kumar says he was a teen when the Indian team travelled to China for the match. That was the first year China entered the world badminton scene. "During that time in the World Cup that took place in Malaysia, China's number one player lost to Prakash Padukone. So, when they realised that they would be facing India, they sent their strongest team. But unfortunately, Prakash had to withdraw. On the first day we landed in China, we were asked to visit The Great Wall of China, and all of us came back tired. On the second day, someone from the Indian Consulate told us to buy Chinese crockery. On the third day, we went for practice and on the fourth, we went to face China. We were exhausted and felt like lambs to the slaughter. I had not played in such a fast-paced rally and I was also tired from the trip. I was out in 15 minutes," laughs Kumar, adding that it was one of the worst experiences he ever had.

Kumar, who made training youngsters in the game one of the main aims of his life, was introduced to badminton by his father. "In the '60s, my father watched Nandu Natekar, one of the greats of Indian badminton, play, and was very inspired by him," says Kumar. He took to badminton like fish to water and became the best junior player in the country. "When I was 15-16 years old, I was sent to England. Since I won some of the local tournaments there, I was allowed to stay back, but my parents didn't let me because I had to finish my graduation," laughs Kumar.

Apart from the recognition and fame that the game had given him, one thing that Kumar is forever grateful for is his friendship with Padukone, whom he first met in the year 1976. "I was a sub-junior player and he was already a very renowned player. When I became the best junior player in the country, I used to write to him in Bangalore. He replied saying that I could come and stay with him. I used to practice with him at the Youth Centre, which has a single badminton court. We've been good friends since then," recalls Kumar, who is currently coaching at Prakash Padukone Badminton Academy.

Having trained many youngsters, Kumar is hopeful that the future of Indian badminton is quite bright. "But the administrative aspects of the government can get a lot better. Karnataka plays an important role. Many good players from across the country are training here," says an optimistic Kumar.

Director Mark Tyler Renfro talks about his silent short film, The Vibes, which depicts the vibrations shared by two people

Vibes and visions

EXPRESS FEATURES

IT is common for people to use the phrase 'vibing with someone'. While many might have their own idea about it, director Mark Tyler Renfro captures this in his silent short film, The Vibes. Though the movie was produced in 2019, it was screened at different film festivals. The film has garnered 10 awards and 17 nominations worldwide and is soon going to be on OTT platforms for public viewing.

The movie has been written and shot in the interest of emphasising the effects of the vibrations that we share and absorb around us. "I have taken an interest in spirituality for 12 years now. When I don't have much work, I practice meditation for 10-12 hours. In due course, I have discovered the power of the vibrations which is what the film is about," explains Renfro, who originally hails from Pune, but currently resides in Bengaluru.

The film is based on two Caucasians who see each other from a distance in a room but hesitate to start a conversation because they don't know each other. After they see each other in the same pool-side restaurant, the two of them share the same hotel room, leaving the viewers confused by their closeness. Only towards the end of the film, it is revealed that it might look like the two individuals are in the same room, but they are living on two different days. "The demonstration here is that when the first person shares his vibration in one day, the other person absorbs it in the second day," explains Renfro. He also reveals that the movie was shot in one day in a resort, on the outskirts of the city.

After creating this movie on a unique subject, Renfro has already started working on his next project, Of Our Own, which is centered around the LGBTQIA+community. Actors like Aruna Irani, Shashwat Tripathi, and Uday Tikekar are in talks to be part of the movie. The film deals with how people from the community continue to face discrimination when it comes to parental rights. "Same-sex parents still face issues while adopting, and children with same-sex parents are also outcasted by other children. The core purpose of making this film is to bring about further changes in the perspective of common people towards the LGBTQIA+ community," says the director.

Culture arena Bangalore International Centre is now in the metaverse space, a move that will allow you to watch their shows from anywhere

ISHRATH MUBEEN

HOW many times have you been keen to attend a show but have had to forego it due to unavoidable reasons? With Bangalore International Centre's (BIC) attempt of employing metaverse, you may just be able to watch programmes from anywhere.

After live telecasts and the circulation of recorded sessions, metaverse is the future of technology, says V Ravichandar, honorary director, BIC. "The goal is to make the digital experience richer and more engrossing than it already is. The basic building block of this initiative is a 3D virtual walkthrough of the actual building, and not a structure developed with computer graphics," he says.

Images from previous performances at BIC

While the live telecast makes for a passive watch, metaverse uses augmented reality (AR) and virtual reality (VR), to provide an interactive digital environment, which mimics a real-life experience. For events that are held at full capacity, BIC has also introduced a 'simulcast', in which the event will be screened in other rooms on the premises, which will help accommodate a larger audience. "We have always been ahead with technology, from the nature of our website and social media to the technology used within the space. This is a move in that direction," he adds.

Metaverse will enable an artist to host an exhibition digitally in the building. The artist can interact with the audience in the same way as they would in the real world. "Although there is some distance to go before we call it a true metaverse, this version helps you watch and enjoy the telecasted events. In the next iteration, which will be made available in a few months, interactions with speakers will be enabled and the attendees can participate using login credentials like email ID or mobile number," Ravichandar says.

With metaverse being the future, Jayachandran Palazhy, artistic director and choreographer, Attakkalari Centre for Movement Arts, looks forward to this move. "This will help us plan our performances better. While performing in collaboration, we can share images and let them know about their positions, spaces and places available at the venue," says Palazhy. Recently, the dance troupe's opening performance started from the rooftop at BIC, followed by a performance on the staircase, then in the foyer and finally, in the auditorium. "One can animate the entire venue by carefully using the architectural features of the building," says Palazhy.

Agrees classical musician Manasi Prasad. "Although no experience can beat the joy of being physically present at a concert, the metaverse is indeed a step ahead. It will not only serve as an extension and help artistes expand their audience, but will also be a means of planning the stage setup with a 3D view of the place," says Prasad, director, Indian Music Experience Museum.

The basic building block of this initiative is a 3D virtual walkthrough of the actual building, and not a structure developed with computer graphics – V Ravichandar, hon secretary, BIC

FIT BIT

EKA PADA VASISTHASANA
(ONE-LEGGED SIDE PLANK POSE)

In Sanskrit, eka means 'one', pada means 'foot'. Vasistha means 'wealthy' and asana means 'pose'. It is an advanced balancing pose that requires flexibility and upper-body strength. To enter eka pada Vasisthasana, the upper leg extends upward, creating a split, and the upper hand grasps the big toe. The asana must be performed under the guidance of an expert.

STEPS

- First, come into Plank Pose and turn your hands out until your index fingers are parallel to each other.
- Press your inner right hand down, externally rotating your upper right arm and sliding the shoulder blade away from your ear as you spin your outer right heel to the floor.
- Line up the centre of your right foot with the center of your right wrist. Stack your left leg on top of your right and pull the outer edges of your feet toward your outer shins and create Tadasana feet.
- Stretch your left arm straight up. With stability, look up to your left hand. Hold for 5 to 8 breaths.
- Externally rotate your left hip, bend your left knee, hold your big toe and move your left buttock toward your right foot.
- Hold your big toe and straighten your left leg up. Continue to externally rotate your upper right arm, draw the sides of your waist in, and lift your lower belly in and up. Hold for 5 breaths.
- Exhale, release your left leg and return to Plank Pose.
- Repeat all 4 steps on the other side.

BENEFITS

- Strengthens the core muscles.
- Strengthens the arms and shoulders.
- Strengthens the quadriceps, hamstring and calf muscles.
- Stretches the sides of the upper body and hips, giving it a good toning.
- Improves the flexibility of the hips and legs.
- Improves concentration and balance.
- Creates awareness of the body in order to maintain balance.
- Awakens the whole body and brings in fresh energy.
- As it is a great arm balance, it prepares you for challenging poses.
- Helps in toning the legs, arms, tummy and hips.
- Gives room for opening the chest thus improving breathing.

LIMITATIONS

If there is injury on the shoulder, arms, hips or knee, avoid this.

People with a generally weak body, should work first on gaining some basic strength with simpler poses before this.

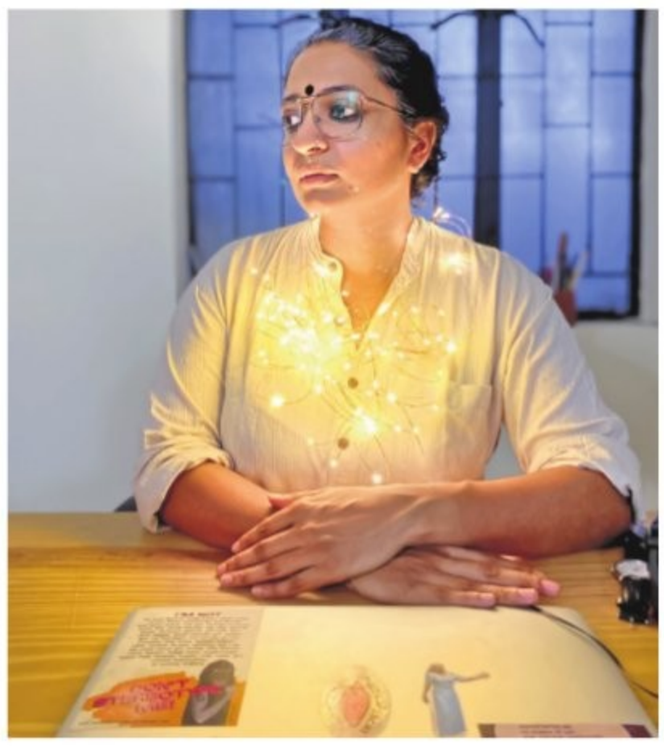
City-based artist and author Indu Antony's book Vasané, takes readers on an olfactory journey of Bengaluru



B'LURU THROUGH THE NOSE

FIA MAJUMDAR

YOU must have heard that scents are more closely linked to our memories than pictures or sounds. The smell of the filter coffee you shared with your friends after an exhausting lecture, remembering the perfume your first love interest wore, or remembering home every time you smell your mother's signature dish being cooked, all trigger memories. It's not only our fondest memories that are drenched by smells, but so is our city.

In her book Vasané (smell in Kannada), artist and author Indu Antony captures the many smells that make up the city of Bengaluru. "Every city has its distinct smell. Mumbai, Goa, all these cities have smells that characterise them, but with Bengaluru, there are so many smells that make up this city," says Antony about her 70-page book. "Because of Covid, our sense of smell was lost. Not just by those who had it, but wearing masks also restricted our ability to smell things around us," says the author.

According to Antony, this project published by Mazhi Books, connects with the city beyond the visual, about associating smells with the city. She collaborated with Avinandan, a perfumer whose family business, Sathyanarayana Traders, is a wholesale retailer of sandal, oud, and musk perfumes. Together, the duo created 12 unique smells in 1 ml bottles each, which readers get with the book, so that they can apply them to the pages and experience the city through the olfactory sense.

"Avinandan and I worked on this project for more than two years, and in these two years we collected the oral histories of two to three hundred people, the smells that they identify with the city," says Antony. The duo also created a 'smell map', through which readers can embark on the journey of smells around Bengaluru. Antony says, "One of the smells that a lot of people remember is the sponge cake from Iyengar Bakery, so we created a scent for that. A lot of people also recall the smell of the grass as they walk through Cubbon Park, which became our next scent. The smell of Bellandur lake was one that we created, we also recreated the smell of garbage in the city, the smell of sambhar, the flower and spice markets, and more. One of the scents we created was that of the Karaga Festival, it smells like a mixture of jasmine, vermillion, and turmeric."

When talking about the process of creating the smells, Antony says she and Avinandan experimented with many different notes, talked to different people and took their feedback, until they created a scent that they felt truly captured the essence of the memory they were trying to capture. "Each smell contains around five to seven notes. We had to figure out how to layer the smells," Antony says. At the launch of the book recently, the audience was presented with 17 scents in glass jars that they could smell. "A lot of people got very emotional and started crying because the smells triggered memories for them," says the author.

HRIDAY RANJAN

(Writer, comedian)

IN my 30s, I am not as emotionally attached to cricket matches. In my teens and 20s, I felt entitled to a good performance. When India lost, I stayed in a bad mood for days. It didn't help that the Indian cricket team of yore wasn't the best in the world. An entire generation of Indians have strong hearts, thanks to the mini-heart attacks that the Indian team gave us. They would be cruising to victory, and just when you're about to bring out the Rasna, they'd crash, burn, and collapse.

A younger, agitated me would often wonder 'Why aren't the cricketers diving in the field? Why aren't they taking that second run?' In my 30s, I know why. It's because the knees get wobbly. The body begins to have a mind of its own. I am too lethargic to buy a loaf of bread. Who am I to judge these great men?

In that context, I am not too heartbroken about Kohli's lack of form. I understand that form is a fickle bedfellow, coming and going as it pleases. Initially, one could blame it on Covid. For the last two years, whenever I was asked why I wasn't writing any new jokes, or working on my novel, I'd simply say 'Covid' – and get sympathetic nods. But Kohli's form is now getting worrying. It's been three years, and nobody knows more about patience than RCB fans.

For more than a decade, RCB fans have watched as Kohli smashed every record in the book. They watched as he made hitting centuries seem like a walk in Cubbon Park. They've watched Kohli's team steamroll its way to the final, only to have the opposition become Agnipath protestors by halting him in his tracks. RCB fans have watched the three greatest T20 batsmen of all time – Gayle, Kohli, and ABD – at the peak of their forms, unable to win a single tournament. Nobody has patience like the good folks of Bengaluru. In any other city, traffic jams like this would cause a riot. But Bengalureans can be found cruising along at 7 km/hr, calmly listening to Love Guru on the radio dishing out asinine tips.

But things have reached a head now. We need to get our man back in form, and here are some ingenious ideas. Not all the suggestions are 100 per cent logical, but when have issues like form and luck followed the laws of logic? It is known that farmers have in the past gotten frogs married to bring on the rains. Since Kohli is the GOAT, how about we get a couple of goats married? Wait, scratch that - he's a vegetarian. Maybe we can get two broccolis married. Or conduct a yagna at Chinnaswamy Stadium with copious amounts of ghee added. And while at it, give some ghee to Chahal. The guy looks like a UNICEF photo of an Indian kid. We should get Aamir Khan to sing 'Oo paalan haare' to inspire Virat. Or Shah Rukh Khan to deliver his '70-minute speech'. Get Yo Yo Honey Singh to take the Yo-Yo test. Do whatever it takes.

I'll watch every Anushka Sharma movie. Even Zero – the only movie whose title reflects the number of stars critics gave it. I'll never use swear words like Ben Stokes and Masceranhas again. I promise to buy every product you sell, even if the name is spelt 'wrogn'. I'll drink every energy drink you sell. Even find myself a partner so I can wear Manyavar wedding suits while doing the Digit dance. But please, for the love of god, science and everything beautiful in the world – just get your 71st century!

'I WANT TO DO FILMS THAT GIVE BACK TO THE SOCIETY'

Rishi

...says actor Rishi, who talks about his upcoming dark comedy, Nodi Swamy Ivanu Irode Heegde which is set to stream on Zee 5 from July 22

A still from the film

A SHARADHAA

Kavaludaari hero Rishi is set to make his debut on the streaming platform with the upcoming dark comedy, Nodi Swamy Ivanu Irode Heege (NSIIH). Directed by Islahuddin, the film will be out on Zee5 from July 22. "I was clear that NSIIH should come on OTT," says Rishi, and elaborates, "I have realised that people nowadays go to theatres purely for entertainment, where they want to forget themselves for 3 hours. I felt that NSIIH will not give that conventional theatrical experience because it deals with a dark and sensitive subject. We felt this film would be best suited for streaming platforms."

However, Rishi is quick to add that his next film, Ramana Avatara, is suited for a theatre experience. "Each film has to be decided on its merit, and we thought it is the right approach."

According to Rishi, NSIIH is more of a personal journey of a protagonist, who is dealing with heartbreaks, depression, and suicidal tendencies. "NSIIH was a story that came to me even before Operation Alamelamma. But back then, I was not ready to take up such a subject. I'm a very positive person, and I couldn't really connect with the character's dark and depressed state. But over the years, the story would subconsciously come to my mind, and gradually, after meeting more people I slowly connected with the story. I met people with mental health issues and tried to understand them. Talking to them gave me an insight into mental health issues, and that is when I went back to Isla and asked him whether we can do the film, and NSIIH happened," says Rishi.

Rishi shares that his primary inspiration to do NSIIH was to offer something to society. "We keep doing commercial subjects, and once in a while, I think as to what I can give back to society as an actor? This has always haunted me. NSIIH highlights a topic like depression and suicide, which is less explored. To me, in every three films I do, I will come up with one subject that addresses societal issues. Depression and suicide are serious topics, and NSIIH talks about mental issues that need certain attention. But it is not a completely serious film, and it will be engaging and entertaining too," he says.

Jointly produced by Dheeraj Mogilineni and Amrej Suryavanshi under Swecha Creations and StabFab productions banner, NSIIH also stars Dhanya Balakrishna and Nagabhushana in the lead roles. While the music is composed by Prasanna Sivaraman, the cinematography is handled by Vishnu Prasad P, Dulip Kumar MS, and editing is taken care of by Guruswamy T.

This is the second time Lokesh has offered a film to Salman. Last year, he was offered the official remake of Master by Murad Khetani.

Apart from this, Salman is currently shooting for Kabhi Eid Kabhi Diwali with Shehnaaz Gill, Pooja Hegde, and Jassie Gill. He also has Tiger 3 with Katrina Kaif on the cards. The actor is also likely to begin shooting for No Entry 2 by the end of the year. He will also make a special appearance in Chiranjeevi's Godfather. The film is directed by Mohan Raja and is produced under the banners of Konidela Production Company and Super Good Films.

'WE ARE EXPANDING THE DEFINITION OF ASIAN STORIES'

... says actor John Cho, as he talks about his latest release, Don't Make Me Go, Asian parenting and breaking stereotypes

GOPINATH RAJENDRAN

HOLLYWOOD actor John Cho has done a variety of roles over his 25-year-old career—from a man into elderly women in the American Pie series to an investment banker in the Harold & Kumar series to playing the famous Hikaru Sulu in the new Star Trek film series. It's fascinating how he has continuously stayed away from stereotypical Asian characters. While comedy is his forte, and his recent release, Don't Make Me Go, is very much a comedy, his characterisation is rather sombre—he plays a single parent with a terminal disease trying to connect with his teenage daughter. Excerpts from the conversation:

You play a serious character in a comedy film, and your filmography has shown you gravitating towards such roles.

I guess. I am doing another comedy later this year, but some of my recent work has been on the dramatic side. It's a little by design and little by accident, but that's the way it has worked.

When compared to playing Sulu (Star Trek), how different is playing your character in Don't Make Me Go?

This one didn't feel like a character that required a whole lot of preparation. I have a daughter myself. Even though I haven't suffered from a serious illness, this is still something I have thought about. What if? These circumstances felt within my emotional reach. When Mia Isaac got cast as my daughter, I saw her as someone who could easily be my daughter. It all felt organic. Being a single parent is one thing, but being an Asian parent is quite another.

(Laughs) Thankfully, I didn't have to give any inputs for this role. I recognised that this script wasn't written for an Asian character. On the other hand, when I went through the script, nothing felt inauthentic. I guess it would have been more different if the household had two Asian parents, and perhaps the grandparents living with them too. Maybe then, the scenes might have been different. But here, it really worked as it was.

Being a father yourself, when you do films like Don't Make Me Go or Searching, do your fatherly instincts kick in and influence how you play the character? Or do you learn from the character?

I think it's a bit of both (smiles). The paternal side came out a little bit with Mia, in the case of Don't Make Me Go. I wanted to take care of her as it's her first feature, and I wanted it to be a good experience for her. I also wanted to be a good acting partner, more so than normal. In Searching, I didn't get to interact with other characters a lot. Even still, I tried to be a good dad!

I particularly enjoyed the scene where your character finally reveals his illness to his daughter. Was it an overwhelming scene for you?

Some of those scenes were tough. The father-daughter dance scene was difficult to get right, the fight after the car crash, as well as the scene you mentioned... they were all complicated. They were emotionally tough days as I recall. You don't want to be modelling but be straightforward and realistic. It's hard to stay in that space and sustain that. It all comes down to honouring the material, and if it works, I'm glad.

You were the first Asian-American actor to play the lead in a US rom-com series—Selfie—and then came Searching, which saw you headlining a mainstream Hollywood thriller. What's your opinion on Hollywood's inclusivity?

To my eyes, it has become a lot better, much faster than I might have predicted. Based on how things were 50 years before I got into the industry, nobody thought it was going to change much. It has though, and I want to keep it going. I want to keep my eye on the prizes, and make sure that we are expanding the definition of what Asian stories are and broadening it as much as possible. It's important not to do only stories that everyone else would consider 'Asian'.

Don't Make Me Go* speaks of leaving some legacy. As an actor, what do you hope will be yours?

(Laughs). To be perfectly honest with you, the thing that pleases me the most is when other actors call my work a good performance. I just want to be a good actor, and if I go down being that, as someone who did more good work than stinkers, I would be really happy.
